

PHILIPPINE LETTER

Chaplain Lutz Tells of Manila's Transformation.

HEARTY WELCOME

Of Eighth Infantry on Arrival at Camp Jossman—Meets Bedford County Boy.

Camp Jossman, Guimaras, P. I., October 1, 1906.

Editor of The Gazette.

My Dear Sir: Manila is the largest city on the Philippine Islands. It is situated on the west coast of the Island of Luzon, about six hundred miles southeast of Hong Kong, China, or about fifteen hundred miles south and west of Nagasaki, Japan. The city is well located commercially; Manila Bay affords a fine harbor for all kinds of shipping. The bay itself is about twenty-five miles in diameter, with plenty of deep water direct from its entrance, at Creggidor, to the city of Manila which lies directly opposite on the east shore of the bay, at the mouth of the Posig River.

The Posig River affords, at present, the only docking facilities of the city of Manila, and is available for vessels drawing from ten to fifteen feet of water. This river serves also as a canal, connecting Luna Lake, which lies some twenty miles back of the city of Manila, with the bay.

The appearance of the city itself from the bay is not very striking, as it is built on a low plain, nor does it impress one very favorably after having landed and entered it. The most of the buildings seem old and obsolete. The streets are narrow and the shops are dingy. Yet we know that the city has a considerable commerce, and as we examine more closely there are some unmistakable signs of modernization. There are prosperous-looking daily papers are published and their columns well filled with ads. There is a street railway with fairly good service; also a city telephone system, after a manner.

The truth is that the city is undergoing a wonderful transformation—a subtle transformation from eastern conditions and life to western. The evolution is low but apparently certain and, we hope, permanent. Considering that the city has a population of almost half a million souls, the larger portion native, poor and ignorant, lazy and superstitious, there is reason to be satisfied with the progress being made and grounds of hope for the future. The transformation of a benighted people is more than the work of a day, week, month, or year—it is the work of at least a generation.

There are other marks of progress than those which are strictly commercial. Schools have been instituted and opened to the mass. Missionaries from the States have labored for the church and the gospel, with some success, bringing emancipation to the enslaved soul as well as to the body. Law and order are being more firmly established and justly administered. Sanitation has been inaugurated along modern lines, with the result that sickness and suffering are greatly alleviated. And gradually there is arising a growing sentiment against the old Spanish customs of gambling and dissipation making possible a partial suppressing of the vices; and as these reforms and improvements grow and increase in Manila, the center of social, religious and political life of the islands, they emanate into the provinces.

Only little more than a day, however, is not sufficient time to see Manila as we would like. We hope later and with more leisure to visit it again, and be able to tell you more about that strange and interesting city.

Late on the afternoon of April 3rd we sailed from Manila for Mariveles, the quarantine station of the port, which is about thirty miles, or two hours sailing, from the city of Manila. Mariveles lies off to the north of Creggidor at the entrance of Manila Bay. Except for the quarantine station it is but a native village, lying at the north end of a small, deep and well protected bay. Here the government has erected a model quarantine station, equipped with the latest devices of science, for disinfecting ships, baggage and clothing and with elaborate baths for the passengers and crews of ships when considered necessary. The authorities here are very strict; only when a ship can show a clear and clean bill is it allowed to pass, whether coming from or going to Manila. By such precaution the dreaded scourge of cholera has been almost eradicated from the city of Manila and the islands.

After lying here for twenty-four hours, and having been several times inspected, we were allowed to sail at 6 p. m. Wednesday for Iloilo, Panay. Passing out of Creggidor we are soon in the China Sea. All Wednesday night, Thursday and Thursday night we sailed south through this great sea. Thirty-six hours is the customary sailing time from Manila to Iloilo. Early Friday morning, with the dawn, the shores of Panay loomed up in the distance to our left. An hour later Guimaras is sighted, and by 6 a. m. we are entering the straits of Iloilo. Here we are met by a pilot, who boards the ship and takes us safely through the shoals. About 8 a. m. Friday, April 6, we drop anchor in the Iloilo straits. We are now lying between the city of Iloilo, on the island of Panay, and the little village of Beuna Vista, on the island of Guimaras.

Here the first man to board our ship was the Marine Surgeon, Capt. Walter McCoy, born and bred in old Bedford, which personally was a very pleasant and agreeable surprise. After a very careful inspection of the ship, and all the passengers, troops and crew, consuming about two hours, the Dr. decided to let us pass and preparations were begun for landing, which had to be done with launches and litters.

On account of the limited facilities it was about 2 p. m. before we landed; we had still about four miles to go up and out over the hills to Camp Jossman.

As we boarded the wagon and started out from the beach, we were greeted by a large strip of canvass and the national colors stretched across the road, bearing the inscription "Welcome 8th." It is almost needless to say that the 12th Infantry, who put up the sign and whom we were relieving, were far happier than we and appreciated the welcome more, for we had two long and very uncertain years ahead of us. About 4 p. m. we arrived at Camp Jossman, the end reached at last.

We have now traveled, since leaving new York city, about 12,000 miles, or half way around the world, from the temperate to the torrid zone, all in about six weeks. There are many strange and interesting things here about which we hope to tell you in other and later letters.

Very sincerely,
S. M. Lutz,
Chaplain 8th Inf. U. S. Army.

Miss May Gump

Margaret May Gump, daughter of Samuel S. Gump of this place, died November 5, 1906, after a prolonged illness from catarrh of the stomach, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Arthur A. Bert, at Yonkers, N. Y. The remains were brought to Bedford Tuesday night and the funeral services were held at the home of her uncle, Dr. S. H. Gump, at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Rev. M. L. Culler of the Trinity Lutheran church, of which the deceased was a member, officiating. Interment was made in the family plot in the Schellsburg cemetery.

Those who knew the deceased intimately will remember her kind and sunny disposition, her devotion to those whose friendship she cherished and her loyalty to her church. She was a member of the class of '95, Bedford High School, and leaves many friends in the home of her girlhood.

Among those who attended the funeral services were Arthur A. Bert and wife, of Yonkers, N. Y.; J. W. Bert and wife, of Philadelphia; J. Edward Gump of Somerset, and Charles Gump of Pittsburg.

Dr. W. R. O'Neal

On Tuesday, November 6, Dr. W. R. O'Neal, well known veterinary surgeon and highly respected citizen of this place, departed this life at the age of 66 years, five months and one day, after an illness covering a period of about three years, from paralysis. He was born in Monroe township on July 5, 1840, and was a son of William and Arah O'Neal. In 1864 he was united in marriage to Miss Nancy L. Kasler of Ohio, and was one of Monroe township's prominent farmers for many years. Dr. O'Neal came to Bedford in 1898. He is survived by his wife and the following brothers and sisters: Reuben P. of Clearville, James and John E. of South Dakota, and Mrs. Harvey Grubb of Clearville.

The funeral services will likely take place Sunday afternoon from the late home, on East Penn street, conducted by his pastor, Rev. M. L. Culler of Trinity Lutheran church, and interment will be made in the Bedford cemetery.

Jacob Fisher

Jacob Fisher died at his home near Schellsburg Saturday morning, November 3, aged about 60 years. He had been ill for a long time and bore his sufferings patiently. He was a member of the Reformed church and was a willing worker.

The funeral services were held at his late residence Monday afternoon and were conducted by his pastor, Rev. Musselman.

He leaves to mourn their loss two sons, Clarence and Somers. The remains were laid to rest in the Union cemetery.

A Farewell Party

Miss Edna F. Kellinger, who has been a stenographer in the office of Atty. A. L. Little for some months past, was tendered a pleasant surprise at her home on Penn street Monday evening. Those present were: Misses Maud Naus, Vesta Brightbill, Mary Willoughby, Bessie Blymyer, Margaret Shuck, Bessie Corle, Ruth Davidson and May Hartley, and Messrs. Percy Schnably, Ross Lysinger, Ellis Davidson, Tom McNamara, Herbert Hershberger, Neilson Horne, Clarence Shoemaker, Arthur Russell and Charles Brightbill.

Cards and music caused the evening to pass pleasantly and all voted it one of thorough enjoyment, yet with a regret that their hostess was leaving Bedford. Miss Kellinger and her mother left yesterday morning for Philadelphia, where Mr. Kellinger is engaged in business and where they will make their home.

Harry Bollinger

As we go to press we learn of the death this afternoon, from typhoid fever, of Harry Bollinger, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bollinger, of East Penn street. Sketch of the young man's life will appear next week.

PENNSYLVANIA REPUBLICAN

Stuart Elected By a Plurality of About 55,000.

REYNOLDS LOSES HIS HOME COUNTY

But Is Elected by About 3,000--Miller Returned to the Senate--Oster Elected Representative--Democratic Poor Director.

The election in Pennsylvania and in this county was a surprise alike to all parties. It was confidently expected that Lewis Emery, Jr., the fusion candidate, would be elected Governor of the state by a plurality of 150,000, but the returns indicate that Stuart is elected by 55,000. The whole Republican state ticket is elected by similar majorities. John M. Reynolds is re-elected to Congress from this district by about 3,000 plurality. Senator Miller is returned to the State Senate by less than 100, and George W. Oster is elected to the General Assembly by less than 100. James B. Cessna, the Democratic candidate for Poor Director, has a small majority over George A. Hillegas, Republican nominee.

Both Reynolds and Miller lost their home ward, their home town and their home county and the fusion state candidates also carried this county. The tabulated vote of the county (unofficial) is given on page 5.

Gains in Congress
Unofficial reports show that the Democrats have made a gain of 21 in the lower house of Congress. There have been 211 Republicans elected and 155 Democrats, with 20 districts to be heard from.

In Other States
California—Republican Governor, state ticket and all of the eight Congressmen.

Colorado—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Illinois—Republican state ticket and nineteen of the twenty-five Congressmen.

Iowa—Republican state ticket and nine of the eleven Congressmen.

Indiana—Republican state ticket and eight of the thirteen Congressmen.

Kansas—Republican state ticket and the eight Congressmen.

Maryland—Three Republican and three Democratic Congressmen.

Massachusetts—Republican state ticket and eleven of the fourteen Congressmen.

Michigan—Republican state ticket and the twelve Congressmen.

Missouri—Four Republican and twelve Democratic Congressmen.

Nebraska—Republican state ticket and five of the six Congressmen.

New York—Republican Governor and twenty-five of the thirty-seven Congressmen.

New Jersey—Six Republican and four Democratic Congressmen.

Ohio—Republican state officers and sixteen of the twenty-one Congressmen.

Pennsylvania—Republican state ticket and twenty-six of the thirty-two Congressmen.

Rhode Island—Democratic Governor, one Democratic and one Republican Congressman.

Washington—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Wisconsin—Republican Governor and state ticket, Legislature and nine Republican and two Democratic Congressmen.

Wyoming—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Utah—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Idaho—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Montana—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Wyoming—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Idaho—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Montana—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Wyoming—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Idaho—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Montana—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Illinois—Republican state ticket and nineteen of the twenty-five Congressmen.

Iowa—Republican state ticket and nine of the eleven Congressmen.

Indiana—Republican state ticket and eight of the thirteen Congressmen.

Kansas—Republican state ticket and the eight Congressmen.

Maryland—Three Republican and three Democratic Congressmen.

Massachusetts—Republican state ticket and eleven of the fourteen Congressmen.

Michigan—Republican state ticket and the twelve Congressmen.

Missouri—Four Republican and twelve Democratic Congressmen.

Nebraska—Republican state ticket and five of the six Congressmen.

New York—Republican Governor and twenty-five of the thirty-seven Congressmen.

New Jersey—Six Republican and four Democratic Congressmen.

Ohio—Republican state officers and sixteen of the twenty-one Congressmen.

Pennsylvania—Republican state ticket and twenty-six of the thirty-two Congressmen.

Rhode Island—Democratic Governor, one Democratic and one Republican Congressman.

Washington—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Wisconsin—Republican Governor and state ticket, Legislature and nine Republican and two Democratic Congressmen.

Wyoming—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Idaho—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Montana—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Wyoming—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Idaho—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Montana—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Wyoming—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Idaho—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Montana—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Wyoming—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Idaho—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Montana—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Wyoming—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Idaho—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Montana—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Wyoming—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Idaho—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Montana—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

Wyoming—Republican state ticket and the three Congressmen.

PERSONAL NOTES

People Who Move Hither and Thither in This Busy World.

Miss Anna Kilcoln is visiting Cumberland friends.

Miss Louise Fyan is the guest of friends in Baltimore.

Mr. Sidney Price came home from State College to cast his vote.

Mr. Maurice Cessna of Pittsburg spent Sunday with relatives here.

Mr. W. P. Critchfield of Freeport, Pa., was a Bedford visitor on Tuesday.

Mrs. John Gunning of Cresaptown, Md., is visiting her mother, Mrs. John Hughes.

Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, of the Willows, are on a visit to friends in Chambersburg.

Mr. J. Rush Mardorff of Johnstown spent several days here this week with his family.

Mr. Thomas Hughes, who has been in Reading for several months, was home to cast his vote.

Miss Grace Hartley and little niece, Clara Hartley, are visiting at Lancaster and Uniontown.

Miss Ethel Smith returned to Philadelphia this week to resume her duties in the Medico-Chi Hospital.

Misses Stella Leonard and Myra Amick leave tomorrow for a visit to relatives and friends in Duncansville and Altoona.

Mrs. Patrick Hughes and her sister, Mrs. Dr. Hughes of Wilmington, Del., left on Monday for a visit to Harrisburg and Pittsburg.

Mr. Thad. Smith, a student at the Dickinson Law School, Carlisle, was among relatives and friends in Everett and Bedford this week.

Mrs. W. H. Harrison and daughters, Fauchon and Wynona, of McKeesport, are visiting Mrs. Harrison's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Leonard.

Miss Virginia Nawgel left on Tuesday for a visit to her sister, Mrs. George Mardorff, at Johnstown. She will also visit in Pittsburg and Altoona.

Mr. John P. Anderson of Baltimore, Md., spent several days here this week with his mother, Mrs. Simon Shaffer, and was renewing old acquaintances.

Hon. William P. Schell and daughter, Miss Nannie, left this week for Minneapolis, Minn., where they will spend the winter with Mr. Schell's sister, Mrs. Ankeny.

Dr. Frank James, who is practicing at Williamsburg, and Mr. Edwin James of Altoona visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry James, several days this week.

Mr. H. A. Cook of Monessen was here with his family over Sunday, returning on Tuesday, accompanied by Mrs. Cook who will visit friends and relatives in Wilkinsburg.

Mrs. W. A. Cartwright and little daughter have returned to their home at Verona, after a six weeks' visit here with her mother, Mrs. Sophia Dibert, Richard street.

Mr. Claude Boor, who has been employed by the U. S. geological survey in Minnesota, stopped off here this week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wy. Boor. He is on his way to Washington, D. C.

Miss L. C. Plunkett of Wilmington, Del., who has been the guest of friends in Bedford, left on Monday for a visit to Pittsburg. From there she will go to Chicago, where she expects to make her home.

Mr. J. Harper Hafer, proprietor of the Bedford House of Bedford, Pa., and Mr. J. H. Pepple, are visitors in this city, having made the run yesterday from Bedford in a Cadillac car in less than two hours.—Cumberland News.

Rev. Johnson, an Episcopal minister stationed at Huntingdon, spent several days last week with his friend, Rev. W. H. Heigham of this place. Rev. Johnson is on his way to take charge of a parish in California.

Little Girl Sealed
Last Friday morning while Mrs. James Hemming of South Bedford township was engaged in cleaning the cream separator, her little three-year-old daughter, Mildred, upset a bucket of hot water over herself and was so badly scalded that she died Saturday night. Funeral services were conducted at the St. Thomas Catholic church, Monday morning, by Rev. Cashman and interment was made in the cemetery west of town. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire community.

Union Thanksgiving Services
At a recent meeting of the pastors of four congregations of this place, it was decided to again hold a union Thanksgiving service on the day set apart by our President and Governor, November 29, in the Methodist Episcopal church. Rev. M. L. Culler will preach the sermon; the service will be in charge of the pastor, Rev. George Leidy; Revs. H. B. Townsend and A. T. G. Apple will participate. There is every reason to expect a large congregation, and no reason why the church should not be packed to the doors.

McCreary-Pensyl
Tuesday morning, November 6, Mr. John E. McCreary of South Sharon and Miss Laura M. Pensyl of East St. Clair township, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at the Reformed parsonage, near Cessna, by Rev. E. F. Bauman. Mr. McCreary is the son of Joseph and Susan McCreary, of East St. Clair township, while the bride is the daughter of John and Julia Pensyl, all being among our most highly respected citizens. The newly married couple will take up their residence in the new house erected by Mr. McCreary in South Sharon where they will be pleased to see their friends.

Civil Suits
List of Cases to Be Tried During Sessions Beginning November 19.
Morris Liveright vs. J. J. Barn-dollar and Mary B. Barn-dollar; Sci Fa sur mortgage.
Vitalus B. Wertz, administrator of Annie M. Wertz, deceased, vs. Sarah J. Horn; plaintiff claims the sum of $2,000 and interest on bank note.
Charles Burkett vs. A. E. Fyan; plaintiff claims $10,000 damages.
George Kimmell vs. George H. Dauler, Jr.; plaintiff claims the sum of $73.67 with interest on book account.
John B. Stewart vs. The General Accident Insurance Co. of Philadelphia, Pa.; plaintiff claims $216.66 for loss of time and disability.
David B. Weaver vs. The Huntingdon & Broad Top Mountain R. R. and Coal Co.; plaintiff claims $800 damages.
Poor Directors of Bedford County vs. Commissioners of Bedford County; plaintiffs claim $1,350 balance of requisition of 1905.
Lewis Hite vs. William Elliott; plaintiff claims $2,000 damages.
Jos. P. Imbr vs. Bedford County; plaintiff claims $126.90 for services.
Mary Baker vs. William G. Barley and Annie Barley; petition to open judgment.

Changes in the Cabinet
The appointment of Attorney General Moody as Justice of the Supreme Court was made by President Roosevelt on Wednesday and it was announced that James R. Garfield, commissioner of corporations, will be Secretary of the Interior after March 4th, when Secretary Hitchcock retires. On the same date William A. Richards, Commissioner of the General Land Office, will be retired; his successor has not been determined upon. Herbert Koss Smith, assistant commissioner of corporations, will succeed Mr. Garfield. Garfield is the son of Ex-President James A. Garfield, and his most notable achievements were the investigations of the beef trust and the Standard Oil Company. Hitchcock is retiring to secure a needed rest.

A Fatal Fall
Charles S. Black, a well known contractor of Huntingdon, aged 36 years, was killed last Sunday night by falling out of a tree. His head struck the floor and his nose was crushed. Rendered unconscious by the shock and his mouth being on the floor, the blood from his broken nose strangled him before help arrived.

Congressman Assassinated
Baton Rouge, La. November 7.—Congressman-elect George K. Fayrot was assassinated today by Dr. H. H. Aldrich as the result of an election row.—Cumberland News.

MENTIONED IN BRIEF

Town Talk and Neighborhood Notes
Tersely Told

MANY ITEMS OF INTEREST

Gleaned From Various Sources—
Little Points Picked Up By Vigilant Reporters.

Quite a number of Bedford ladies were shopping in Cumberland last Saturday.

Mrs. Charlotte Kinzey of Schellsburg died Wednesday morning after a few days' illness.

Rev. Dr. Charles M. Stock of Hanover will preach in Trinity Lutheran church of Bedford Sunday, November 11, at 11 a. m.

The silver cup won by Thomas Hughes in an auto race at Reading, some time ago, is on exhibition in the window of Ridenour's store.

Maj. William Watson Post, No. 332, G. A. R., of Bedford will hold their regular meeting on Tuesday, November 14, at 1:30 p. m. A full turnout is desired.

The first issue of the Roaring Spring News, Aaron Clark, editor, came to our desk early this week. It is a clean, newsy sheet and The Gazette extends a welcome.

A farewell reception was given in the Sunday school room of the Presbyterian church Friday evening in honor of William P. Schell and Miss Nannie Schell, who will be absent during the winter.

Home Missionary Day will be observed next Sunday in the churches of the Reformed denomination throughout the land. St. John's church, Bedford, joins the movement, and will hold a special service in the morning at 11 o'clock. Assisting in the concerted effort to aid the Grace Mission in Chicago, a special offering will be made.

Schellsburg Boy in Cuba

Editor of The Gazette:—Please change the address of my paper from Schellsburg, Pa., to Cienfuegos, Cuba, care Co. E, U. S. M. C.

While thinking it over this afternoon, I find it is just two weeks today since we arrived in Havana, Cuba, and as we have not had a Pennsylvania paper in camp since, came here I decided to send you the good old Gazette, which I have read for a good many years back.

We left League Island September 18, on the U. S. S. Minneapolis, sailing into the harbor of Havana, September 22, where we received their customary salute from the forts and the ships in the harbor. We landed September 30 and came by rail to Cienfuegos, passing many ruins caused by the insurgents, where we were quartered in a warehouse for two days and then being sent further into the wilds of Cuba to the little village of Santa Clara.

We were stationed at Santa Clara for ten days in the public school building which we soon fitted up very comfortably. It is a very pretty little village of 5,000 inhabitants. While there the people were very hospitable, doing many little things for our benefit. We passed the time there very pleasantly, except for one occurrence, when we were called out in the middle of the night, as the rebels were attacking the town. When about thirty of us hastened out and took away their arms they soon dispersed.

On the 13th of October we were ordered back to Cienfuegos, which is the headquarters of the U. S. Marine Corps for this part of the island. We are encamped here on the south side of the city and along the bay. We do not do much except in the early morning and late evening, lying in the shade during the heat of the day.

I could mention many interesting incidents but will not take any more space in your most valuable paper.

A Bedford County Boy.
Cienfuegos, Cuba.
October 27, 1906.

Changes in the Cabinet
The appointment of Attorney General Moody as Justice of the Supreme Court was made by President Roosevelt on Wednesday and it was announced that James R. Garfield, commissioner of corporations, will be Secretary of the Interior after March 4th, when Secretary Hitchcock retires. On the same date William A. Richards, Commissioner of the General Land Office, will be retired; his successor has not been determined upon. Herbert Koss Smith, assistant commissioner of corporations, will succeed Mr. Garfield. Garfield is the son of Ex-President James A. Garfield, and his most notable achievements were the investigations of the beef trust and the Standard Oil Company. Hitchcock is retiring to secure a needed rest.

A Fatal Fall
Charles S. Black, a well known contractor of Huntingdon, aged 36 years, was killed last Sunday night by falling out of a tree. His head struck the floor and his nose was crushed. Rendered unconscious by the shock and his mouth being on the floor, the blood from his broken nose strangled him before help arrived.

Congressman Assassinated
Baton Rouge, La. November 7.—Congressman-elect George K. Fayrot was assassinated today by Dr. H. H. Aldrich as the result of an election row.—Cumberland News.

Impoverished Soil

Impoverished soil, like impoverished blood, needs a proper fertilizer. A chemist by analyzing the soil can tell you what fertilizer to use for different products.

If your blood is impoverished your doctor will tell you what you need to fertilize it and give it the rich, red corpuscles that are lacking in it. It may be you need a tonic, but more likely you need a concentrated fat food, and fat is the element lacking in your system.

There is no fat food that is so easily digested and assimilated as

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil

It is rich and strengthens the body when milk and cream fail to do it. Scott's Emulsion is always the same; always palatable and always beneficial where the body is wasting from any cause, either in children or adults.

We will send you a sample free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

SCOTT & BOWNE
CHEMISTS
409 Pearl St., New York
50c. and $1.00.
All Druggists.

Need a good cathartic? A pill is best. Say a pill like DeWitt's Little Early Risers. About the most reliable on the market. Sold by Ed. D. Heckerman.

Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar the original laxative cough syrup acts as a cathartic on the bowels. It is made from the tar gathered from the pine trees of our own country, therefore is the best for children. It is good for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, etc. Try our free offer. Sold by J. Reed Irvine.

Give children a remedy with a pleasant taste. Don't force unpleasant medicine down their throats. Kennedy's Laxative (containing) Honey and Tar is most pleasant to take. Children like it, and as a relief for colds, coughs, etc., there is nothing better. No opiates. Conforms to National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by Ed. D. Heckerman.

Locust Wood Wanted

Quality:—First class locust, free from knots, rots, worm holes and wind shakes and any other defects that would keep it from passing inspection as good sound merchantable locust.

Dimensions:—All wood must measure at least 7 in. at small end of stick, lengths 49 in. and 99 in. cut, straight. In order to save timber 25 in. pieces will be taken and laid end against end to measure 49 in.

Any stick not cut full length as given above will be cut back 8 inches, and counted as a shorter length. Apply at the old handle factory for prices and further information.

BEDFORD HARDWOOD CO.
ap66ft.

Here is our condensed opinion of the Original Laxative Cough Syrup: "Nearly all other cough syrups are disappointing especially those containing opiates. Kennedy's Laxative (containing) Honey and Tar moves the bowels. Contains no opiates. Conforms to the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by Ed. D. Heckerman."

Fine Christmas Number

It is a little early to announce attractions for December, but we just wish to give you a hint that the strongest feature which has ever appeared in The Ladies' World is scheduled for the Christmas number. We do not mind telling you that it is a serial story of the highest grade, and by an author who has published many books and whose name stands at the top of the list of present-day writers.

How to Improve Your Complexion Every one who wants a good healthy color, a ruddy glow and a clear skin free from the effects of biliousness, sluggish liver and chronic constipation should get a 5 cent package of Laxative Tonic Tablets today. Ed. D. Heckerman.

Do the right thing if you have Nasal Catarrh. Get Ely's Cream Balm at once. Don't touch the catarrh powders and snuffs, for they contain cocaine. Ely's Cream Balm releases the secretions that inflame the nasal passages and the throat, whereas common "remedies" made with mercury merely drive them out and leave you no better than you were. In a word, Ely's Cream Balm is a real cure, not a delusion. All druggists, 50c., or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren Street, New York.

Pine-salve cleanses wounds, is highly antiseptic, unequalled for cracked hands. Good for cuts. Sold by J. Reed Irvine.

THE REFUGEES

By A. CONAN DOYLE,
Author of "The Return of Sherlock Holmes"

COPYRIGHT, 1898, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

(Continued from last week.)

CHAPTER XV.

AND thus it was that Amory de Catinat and Amos Green saw from their dungeon window the midnight carriage which discharged its prisoner before their eyes; hence, too, came that ominous plunking and that strange procession in the early morning. And thus it also happened that they found themselves looking down at Francoise de Montespan as she was led to her death, and that they heard that last piteous cry for aid at the instant when the heavy hand of the ruffian with the ax fell upon her shoulder and she was forced down upon her knees beside the block. She shrank screaming from the dreadful red stained, greasy billet of wood, but the butcher heaved up his weapon and the seigneur had taken a step forward with hand outstretched to seize the long auburn hair and to drag the dainty head down with it when suddenly he was struck motionless with astonishment and stood with his foot advanced and his hand still out, his mouth half open and his eyes fixed in front of him.

And, indeed, what he had seen was enough to fill any man with amazement. Out of the small square window which faced him a man had suddenly shot headforemost, pitching on to his outstretched hands and then bounding to his feet. Within a foot of his heels came the head of a second one, who fell more heavily than the first, and yet recovered himself as quickly. The one wore the blue coat and silver facings of the king's guard; the second had the dark coat and clean shaven face of a man of peace, but each carried a short rusty iron bar in his hand. Not a word did either of them say, but the soldier took two quick steps forward and struck at the headman while he was still poisoning himself for a blow at the victim. There was a thud, with a crackle like a breaking egg, and the bar flew into pieces. The headman gave a dreadful cry, dropped his ax, clapped his two hands to his head and, running zigzag across the scaffold, fell over a dead man, into the courtyard beneath.

Quick as a flash De Catinat had caught up the ax and faced De Montespan.

"Now!" said he.

The seigneur had for the instant been too astounded to speak. Now he understood at least that these strangers had come between him and his prey.

"Seize these men!" he shrieked, turning to his followers.

"One moment!" cried De Catinat, with a voice and manner which commanded attention. "You see by my coat what I am. I am the body servant of the king. Who touches me touches him."

"On, you cowards!" roared De Montespan.

But the men at arms hesitated, for the fear of the king was as a great shadow which hung over all France. De Catinat saw their indecision.

"This woman," he cried, "is the king's own favorite, and if any harm come to a lock of her hair I tell you that there is not a living soul within this portcullis who will not die a death of torture."

"Who are these men, Marceau?" cried the seigneur furiously.

"They are prisoners, your excellency."

"Who ordered you to detain them?"

"You did. The escort brought your signet ring."

"I never saw the men. There is devilry in this. But they shall not be heard in my own castle, nor stand between me and my own wife. No, par Dieu! They shall not and live! You men, Marceau, Etienne, Gilbert, Jean, Pierre, all you who have eaten my bread, on to them, I say!"

He glanced round with furious eyes, but they fell only upon hung heads and averted faces. With a hideous curse he flashed out his sword and rushed at his wife, who still knelt half insensible beside the block. De Catinat sprang between them to protect her, but Marceau, the bearded seigneur, had already seized his master round the waist. With the strength of a maniac, his teeth clenched and his foam churning from the corners of his lips, De Montespan writhed round in the man's grasp, and, shortening his sword, he thrust it through the brown beard and deep into the throat behind him. Marceau fell back with a choking cry, the blood bubbling from his mouth and his wound; but before his murderer could disengage his weapon De Catinat and the American, aided by a dozen of the retainers, had dragged him down on to the scaffold, and Amos Green had pinioned him so securely that he could not move his eyes and his lips, with which he lay glaring and spitting at them. So savage were his own followers against him—for Marceau was well loved among them—that, with ax and block so ready, justice might very swiftly have had her way had not a long, clear bugle call, rising and falling in a thousand little twirls and flourishes, clanged out suddenly in the still morning air. De Catinat pricked up his ears at the sound of it like a hound at the huntsman's call.

Is It Your Own Hair?

Do you pin your hat to your own hair? Can't do it? Haven't enough hair? It must be you do not know Ayer's Hair Vigor! Here's an introduction! May the acquaintance result in a heavy growth of rich, thick, glossy hair! And we know you'll never begay.

"I think that Ayer's Hair Vigor is the most wonderful hair-growth that was ever made. I have used it for some time and I can truthfully say that I am greatly pleased with it. I cheerfully endorse it as a splendid preparation."—MISS V. BROCK, Wayland, Mich.

Made by J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Sole manufacturers of Ayer's
SARSAPARILLA
PILLS.
CHERRY PECTORAL.

Shortening the sword, he thrust it deep into the throat.

"Did you hear, Amos?"

"It was a trumpet."

"It was the guards' bugle call. You, there, hasten to the gate! Throw up the portcullis and drop the drawbridge! Stir yourselves, or even now you may suffer for your master's sins! It has been a narrow escape, Amos."

"You may say so, friend. I saw him put out his hand to her hair even as you sprang from the window. Another instant and he would have had her scalped. But she is a fair woman—the fairest that ever my eyes rested upon—and it is not fit that she should kneel here upon these boards." He dragged her husband's long black cloak from him and made a pillow for the senseless woman with a tenderness and delicacy which came strangely from a man of his build and bearing.

He was still stooping over her when there came the clang of the falling bridge, and an instant later the clatter of the hoofs of a troop of cavalry, who swept, with wave of plumes, toss of manes and jingle of steel, into the courtyard. At the head was a tall horseman in the full dress of the guards, with a curling feather in his hat, high buff gloves and his sword gleaming in the sunlight. De Catinat's face brightened at the sight of him, and he was down in an instant beside his stirrup.

"De Brissac!" he cried.

"De Catinat! Now where in the name of wonder did you come from?"

"I have been a prisoner. Tell me, De Brissac, did you leave the message in Paris? And the archbishop came? And the marriage?"

"Took place as arranged. That is why this poor woman whom I see yonder has had to leave the palace."

"I thought as much."

"I trust that no harm has come to her?"

"My friend and I were just in time to save her. Her husband was there. He is a fiend, De Brissac."

"Very likely. But an angel might have grown bitter had he had the same treatment."

"We have him pinioned here. He has slain a man, and I have slain another."

"On my word, you have been busy."

"How did you know that we were here?"

"Nay, that is an unexpected pleasure."

"You did not come for us, then?"

"No; we came for the lady. Her brother was to have taken her in his carriage. Her husband learned it, and by a lying message he coaxed her into his own, which was at another door. When De Vivonne found that she did not come and that her rooms were empty he made inquiries and soon learned how she had gone.

De Montespan's arms had been seen on the panel, and so the king sent me here with my troop as fast as we could gallop."

"Ah, and you would have come too late had a strange chance not brought us here. I know not who it was who waylaid us, for this man seemed to know nothing of the matter. However, all that will be clearer afterward. What is to be done now?"

"I have my own orders. Madame is to be sent to Petit Bourg, and any who are concerned in offering her violence are to be kept until the king's pleasure is known. The castle, too, must be held for the king. But you, De Catinat, you have nothing to do now."

"Nothing save that I would like well to ride into Paris to see that all is right with my uncle and his daughter."

"Ah, that sweet little cousin of thine! By my soul, I do not wonder that the folk know you well in the Rue St. Martin. Well, I have carried a message for you once, and you shall do as much for me now."

"With all my heart. And whither?"

"To Versailles. The king will be on fire to know how we have fared. You have the best right to tell him, since without you and your friend yonder it would have been but a sorry tale."

"I will be there in two hours."

"Have you horses?"

"Ours were slain."

"You will find some in the stables here. Pick the best, since you have lost your own in the king's service."

The advice was too good to be overlooked. De Catinat, beckoning to Amos Green, hurried away with him to the stables, while De Brissac, with a few short, sharp orders, disarmed the retainers, stationed his guardsmen all over the castle and arranged for the removal of the lady and for the custody of her husband. An hour later the two friends were riding swiftly down the country road, inhaling the sweet air, which seemed the fresher for their late experience of the dank, foul vapors of their dungeon.

(Continued on Sixth Page.)

SURE TO CURE INDIGESTION

Unless Pepsikola Cures Your Dyspepsia Ed. D. Heckerman Will Pay Back the Money.

It is not often that Mr. Heckerman backs up a new remedy with his own personal guarantee but he knows that Pepsikola is sure to help all who have chronic dyspepsia and indigestion the very first day they begin to take it.

Moreover, Mr. Heckerman is too busy and his reputation is worth too much to take chances in recommending a new remedy to his customers that will not do just as represented.

Pepsikola is a remarkable preparation and has performed some cures in Bedford that border upon the miraculous. It is also a grand nerve tonic. It improves the appetite, gives new strength and new energy, tones up the stomach and digestive organs, and makes you feel better right off.

When you buy a package of Pepsikola you are protected in every way. If it cures you the cost is 25 cents— if it does not, Mr. Heckerman will pay back your money without the least argument.

Cured of Bright's Disease

Mr. Robert O. Burke, Elnora, N. Y., writes: "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up from twelve to twenty times a night, and I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. I had given up hope of living, when a friend recommended Foley's Kidney Cure. One 50 cent bottle worked wonders and before I had taken the third bottle the dropsy had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Bright's disease." Ed. D. Heckerman.

A Positive CATARRH CURE

Ely's Cream Balm is quickly absorbed. Gives Relief at Once.

It cleanses, soothes, heals and protects the diseased membrane. It cures Catarrh and drives away a Cold in the Head quickly. Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. Full size 50c., at Druggists or by mail; Trial Size 10c., by mail. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

HAY FEVER

Backache

Any person having backache, kidney pains or bladder trouble who will take two or three Pine-ules upon retiring at night shall be relieved before morning.

The medicinal virtues of the crude gums and resins obtained from the Native Pine have been recognized by the medical profession for centuries. In Pine-ules we offer all of the virtues of the Native Pine that are of value in relieving all

Kidney and Bladder Troubles
Guaranteed to Give Satisfaction or Money Refunded.
Prepared by
PINE-ULE MEDICINE CO., CHICAGO
Sold at J. Reed Irvine's Drug Store

ECZEMA and PILE CURE

FREE Knowing what it was to suffer for, I will give FREE OF CHARGE, to any afflicted a positive cure for Eczema, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Piles and Skin Diseases. Instant relief. Don't suffer longer. Write F. W. WILLIAMS, 400 Manhattan Avenue, New York. Enclose Stamp.

LADIES It's Up To You.

No. 1. November blasts remind you most forcibly that it is high time to throw away your Oxfords and Slippers and don your winter boots.

SEE US FIRST.

No. 2. Confidently we assert that it will pay you to examine our line first. In attractiveness, as well as quality and comfort, our winter walking boots and shoes are sure to impress you most favorably. We repeat SEE US FIRST and DO IT NOW.

C. G. SMITH

Tenderfeet Shoes

Baltimore and George Streets, CUMBERLAND, MD.

CORLE'S VARIETY STORE, BEDFORD, PENNA.

Our New Stock of fall goods is now coming in; a great many New Things all through the line.

For Seventeen Years we have tried to serve the people and to bring forward the best goods at the lowest prices. In a few weeks the Holiday Goods will be coming in and it will be the Most Complete Line We Ever Had. A great many new things this year, never on sale before in Bedford.

SOUVENIR GOODS

Postals in leather, comics, Celluloid, Home View Cards; China, leather goods, Burnt-wood, Postal Albums.

CHINA AND BRIC-A-BRAC

Japanese Vases, Card Trays, Salad Dishes and Plates, Bavarian China—Salad Dishes, Vases, Cups and Saucers, Sugar and Creams, Chocolate Sets, Haviland China—Plates, Cups and Saucers. The assortment from Prussia is fine in Salads, Plates and Vases.

JEWELRY AND SILVERWARE

We sell the 1847 Rogers' line, fully guaranteed, Knives and Forks, Tea and Table Spoons; Fruit Knives, Cream Ladles, Soup Ladles; Pie Knives, Cold Meat Forks, Sugar Shells, Butter Knives. In Hollow-ware, Sugar and Creams, Bread Plates, Cake Dishes, Fruit Stands and Bon Bon Sets.

CUT GLASS

We have a nice assortment of different articles at a Very Low Price.

GLASSWARE AND LAMPS

We have a large assortment of Glassware; Water Sets, Goblets, Pressed and Thin Blown Tumblers, Sherbet Cups—5 and 10c assortment trimmed with gold.

The new Fall line of Lamps just in; Banquet, Parlor and Hall lamps, Bracket lamps and hand lamps—all sizes—Chimneys, Burners, Wicks—all sizes.

Flower Pots, Jardinieres, Granite and Tinware; Copper, Nickel Plated Ware, Table Cutlery, Pocket Cutlery; Table and Floor Oil Cloth, Wall Paper.

STATIONERY

Tablets, Box Papers, 10c to $1.00 per box. School Satchels, Pencils, Pencil Boxes, Shawl Straps, Lunch Boxes.

TOY DEPARTMENT

Dolls, all sizes and all kinds, Iron Toys, Mechanical Toys, Steam Toys; Books, Games, Express Wagons, Doll Coaches; Baseballs, Mitts, Gloves and Rubber Balls. 5 and 10c counter our Specialty. Watch for ad, later, on Holiday Goods.

J. S. CORLE.

Special Sale of Horse Blankets

At Very Attractive Prices

In our Blanket Department you'll find a splendid collection of the newest blankets and lap robes at exceptionally low prices. Every want of the horseman can be supplied here with the most satisfactory goods and at a decided saving from the usual cost. Just a hint of our horse blanket specials.

Knickerbocker street blankets, 80x84 in., 6 lbs.; a good strong wearing blanket, usually $6 at $5.

Greenwood street blankets, 76x80 in., 5 lbs.; handsome patterns, all wool; usually $4 at $3.25.

Iceland street blankets, 80x84 in., 6 lbs., fancy pattern, fine quality, usually $4.50 at $3.35.

Street blankets at all prices from $1.50 up to $6. We have all kinds of stable blankets at all kinds of prices to suit the purchaser.

Lap robes at a remarkably low price for the quality.

BLYMYER HARDWARE CO., Bedford, Pa.

Bedford's Acknowledged Millinery Leader.

Inexpensive Millinery

A splendid assortment of attractive practical hats, all of which are specially priced, to be seen here. The very newest and prettiest designs and color combinations shown in extensive lines. At the prices these hats offer decided opportunities for money saving.

Large hats and small hats, with an almost endless variety of styles in between. One of the most popular is the small Turban, very effectively trimmed.

Hats for Ladies, Misses and Children

Trimmed to Order.

MRS. ELLA GILCHRIST

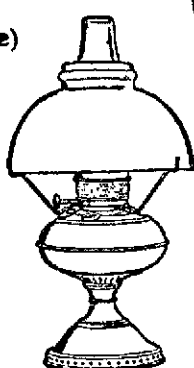

Ridenour Block

BEDFORD, PA.

With This Oil Heater

PERFECTION Oil Heater

ATLANTIC REFINING COMPANY

Oregon City's Woolen Mills—Portland Ranks Fifth as a Wheat Exporter.

Portland is the fifth city in the United States as a wheat exporter. It also has a large lumber, flour, fruit and fish business. Two views of Portland stand out in the writer's memory above all others; the first the wide, busy river as seen from one of the bridges, the city rising on both sides, and tall-masted ships moored at the docks; the second, the view sunset of the rose-colored, snow-capped peaks of Mount Hood from the beautiful drives in the outskirts of the city. But the sea and not fishes, nor even the wonderful resources of the soil, nor mines, nor lumber, the great hope and opportunity of Portland. For here is the gateway of an empire, here close to the seacoast, this city, with a magnificent harbor, will take toll on the produce of one hundred thousand farms and ranches. Without its harbor the coastal strip would still become densely populated and prosperous land, but with it, it will become great in cities and great in commerce and power.

The best treatment for indigestion and troubles of the stomach is to rest the stomach. It can be rested by starvation or by the use of a good digestant which will digest the food eaten thus taking the work off the stomach. At the proper temperature, a single teaspoonful of Kodol will wholly digest 3,000 grains of food. It relieves the present annoyance, puts the stomach in shape to satisfactorily perform its functions. Good for indigestion, sour stomach, flatulence, palpitation of the heart and dyspepsia. Kodol made in strict conformity with the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by E. L. Heckerman.

Law. thousands of families. Get DeW
Sold by Ed. D. Heckerman.

For Sale by Ed. D. Heckerman, Bedford, Pa.

YELLOW PACKAGE

ED. D. HECKERMAN, Druggist, Bedford, Pa.

find their latest expression in the SUNSHINE "Garments of Quality," now on display in our tment.

For neat, dressy garments, which are guaranteed to fit perfectly, at moderate prices, we believe we can serve you especially well this season.

W. H. STRAUB,
BEDFORD, PA.

STATLER'S

FALL AND WINTER STOCK

A FINE LINE OF DRESS GOODS
of all kinds.
BUY HERE

WINNING PRICES

BOOTS, SHOES
AND RUBBER GOODS

ALL KINDS OF
Men's, Boys',
Ladies' and Misses'
Shoes & Rubbers

PLEASING PRICES

GROCERIES

A FINE LINE OF Fresh Groceries
IN STOCK.
NEW GOODS
EVERY FEW DAYS.

GOLDEN BLEND COFFEE

CASH COUNTS.

PURE SPICES at
JOSEPH X. CONLEY'S
DRUG STORE,
Opp. P. O., Everett, Pa.

SAVES YOU MONEY

That's what the Urban Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of Bedford, Pa., does. It furnishes the cheapest insurance, gives you the best protection, and pays you your loss promptly when you have a fire.

Write or 'phone for rates. Bell or County 'phone. Oct. 12-t.f

60 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion from whether a trademark is producible or not. No charge. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent from Oldest Agency for securing patents. Fasting taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year: four months, $1. Sold by all news-dealers.

MUNN & CO., 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 62 F. St., Washington, D. C.

PINE-ULES for the Kidney
30 DAYS' TREATMENT FOR $1.00

R-I-P-A-N-S TABLETS
DOCTORS FIND A GOOD PRESCRIPTION FOR MANKIND

The 5-cent packet is enough for usual occasions. The family bottle (60 cents) contains a supply for a year. All druggists sell them.

[illegible]

Bedford Gazette

ESTABLISHED IN 1805

S. A. VAN ORMER,
Editor and Publisher.

The Bedford Gazette is a model among country newspapers.—New York World.

The Gazette is the leading newspaper of Bedford county and its circulation is far ahead of any of its contemporaries. As an advertising medium it is one of the best in this part of the state.

Regular subscription price per year $2.00. If paid in advance $1.50. All communications should be addressed to

The Gazette Publishing Co.,
Bedford, Pa.

Friday Morning, November 9, 1906.

TUESDAY'S ELECTION

The result of Tuesday's election was a surprise to everybody and a disappointment to the fusion forces. The election of Lewis Emery, Jr., was confidently expected, but the unexpected has happened. Various reasons for the Republican victory are given by those who have made a study of the returns. Edwin S. Stuart, against whose personal character nothing was said during the campaign, as a candidate promised the people of the state that he, if elected, would investigate the expenditures by the commission that erected the $4,000,000 capitol and spent more than $9,000,000 on trimmings and fixtures, and the result of the election indicates that the people have believed him—have taken his word for it. It is a safe prediction that there will be no prison stripes worn by looters, for his past record does not give assurance that he has the backbone to defy the gang that the people have re-established in power. Time alone will tell the story.

Again there are those who attribute the fusion defeat to a lethargy on the part of Democrats who would not attend the election because a Democrat was not placed at the head of the ticket, and this, no doubt, had its influence, for there are those in all parties who cannot arise in an emergency and place country and state before party.

The State Senators elected on Tuesday will have a vote for the next U. S. Senator and Penrose is now the logical successor of himself. The people have, in this district, returned Senator Miller who is, by resolution and perhaps otherwise, pledged to Penrose, thereby putting the stamp of their approval both upon the course and the record of Senator Miller and of Senator Penrose.

The majority has declared for Penrose and the organization of which he is the head and the minority with the majority must accept the conditions which the majority has brought about.

While there was a decided falling off in the vote in this county a glance at the tabulated vote given elsewhere in this issue of The Gazette will show that the county was carried by Emery, Thropp, Koontz, Cessna and Diehl.

In the district Koontz reduced a majority of more than 6,000 to less than 100, and Thropp, despite Bailey's bolt and the influence of his paper and his emissaries, has materially reduced the normal Republican majority.

In a republic the voters may have what they want. In this state they have willed to have the machine rule; in the Congressional district and in the Senatorial district and in the county they have willed to send as representatives those pledged to that machine. The result of this action will be watched with interest.

Pure Gold Seldom Seen

Pure gold is of an unvarying and unchanging color, but few people ever see such gold. The kind used as money or for jewelry has alloy in it after it is manufactured into the desired article. In medicine, however, there is one remedy that can always be relied on for its purity and that is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. In its composition is used only the very best and purest ingredients, and its increasing popularity is proof that the public appreciates this one pure remedy. Therefore we urge you to insist on having Hostetter's with our Private Stamp over the neck of the bottle. It always cures poor appetite, sick headache, vomiting, indigestion, dyspepsia, flatulency, female ailments, chills, colds or malarial fever. Don't fail to try a bottle at once.

St. Clairsville Lutheran Pastorate

Services Sunday, November 11, as follows: Cessna at 10 a. m.; Messtah at 2 p. m.; St. Clairsville, missionary meeting at 7 p. m.

J. H. Diehl, Pastor.

SPRAYING FRUIT TREES

The Warfare Against San Jose Scale in Pennsylvania

It is the intention of Prof. Surface, State Zoologist, to have inspectors visit every orchard in the state for San Jose scale and other insects. This work began one year ago with inspection, followed by spraying demonstrations. It is our aim to show the owner what the scale is, how to find and detect them, and the best and most practical methods of fighting them. There will be little excuse for many to say that they do not know what the San Jose scale looks like. Attend the demonstrations somewhere and find out for yourselves from the demonstrator.

Bedford county will receive her share of this work. I want to visit every orchard of value and try to show the owner the destructive pests destroying his trees and how to find them. The inspection will be followed by a spraying demonstration about five miles apart where scale is found. We aim to show you where and what the scale is, how to detect it, and the methods used in fighting them. If the farmers and fruit growers do not know the pests destroying their orchards and how to fight them, it is their fault.

It is my earnest desire to do all I can, as inspector and demonstrator, for the farmers and fruit growers but I need your hearty co-operation and assistance. Do not be contented by attending one demonstration, but as many as you have the time or that are within reasonable distance. You cannot see and learn all the tricks of the business at one demonstration.

I am here as your servant, desiring to aid and assist you. Come to the demonstration, bring twigs from trees you think are infested, if your orchard has not been inspected. Give your orchard a "square deal," give them a little more care in pruning, cultivating, fertilizing and spraying.

I was very much disappointed at the turnout at the demonstration on Tuesday. It would be a waste of time and means if there is not more interest shown at future demonstrations. It is done for your benefit, not mine, and it is the duty of the farmers to attend and make them practical and beneficial in aiding you to start right in destroying the scale and saving your trees. I hope you will turn out and make a stand against the scale before every orchard is infested like the orchards in York, Adams and Lancaster counties. Come out and assist.

The spraying demonstrations scheduled for the following week will be as follows:

Daniel Clites, Wolfburg, November 12, at 1 p. m.

M. L. Sams, Mann's Choice, November 13, at 1 p. m.

Thompson Ling, Buffalo Mills, November 14, at 1 p. m.

Z. T. Evans, Hyndman, November 16, at 1 p. m.

All are invited to attend. Bring infested twigs, if you think you have scale, for examination. It is for your benefit. Come, look, listen, ask questions and if you have scale on your trees you will know how to go about saving them. Please remember the time.

R. F. Lee,
Inspector and Demonstrator.

Children and Manners.

Did you ever stop to think that children, as a rule, know each other far better than their parents and teachers do? Boys and girls show their real characters at play, when they have not the restraint of the presence of their elders or any incentive to appear at their best. So when you tell your boy you wish he would be as gentlemanly and polite as Harry Lee your viewpoint is that of Harry's conduct in your house when he comes on an errand or to play with your boy. Your son knows him as he is when off guard on the playground—selfish, rude, sly, perhaps—and he resents being asked to copy such a character, says a writer in the Mother's Magazine. Quite likely your boy has on his company manners, too, when away to an extent you would hardly believe. Children have pride in their behavior, and it is an old saying, well proved, that they often behave better when their parents are not around.

Brush Your Eyebrows.

Do you ever brush your eyebrows? You look after your hair and hands with religious care. But perhaps it never occurs to you that your eyebrows might be improved by a little attention. Buy a soft little eyebrow brush, made especially for this purpose, and night and morning brush the brows in the way they should go. If they aren't going the right way then train them to. Suppose they are too thin. Then keep handy a little sweet almond oil and before brushing put a few drops of this on the finger tip and gently rub it into the eyebrow. If the lashes are short and scanty do the same thing to them. Treatment of this sort ought to make a noticeable difference in a few months. A very simple tonic for the eyebrows is composed of red vasoline and boracic acid, five grains of the former to five of the latter. Make into a smooth paste and apply at night.

Onicloth.

When onicloth begins to lose its shiny surface it can be improved in appearance and made to last much longer by being varnished with glue. Wash the onicloth thoroughly and let it dry. At night when the traffic of the day is done go over it with a piece of flannel dipped in glue water. Choose a nice dry day for this, and then the glue will be quite hard by morning, and the onicloth will look like new. The glue water must be prepared some time before it is needed by putting a small quantity of glue in a pint or so of water and letting it stand on the stove till dissolved.

If you are not a subscriber of The Bedford Gazette send in your name. It's the county's leading paper.

John Obed.

Mrs. F. was a very stern woman, who demanded instant and unquestioning obedience from her children, says Chums. One afternoon as she was working in her sewing room a storm came up, and she sent her son John to close the trap leading to the flat roof of the house.

"But, mother," said John.
"John, I told you to shut the 'trap.'"
"Yes, but, mother,"
"John, shut that trap!"
"All right, mother, if you say so, but—"

"John!"
John slowly climbed the stairs and shut the trap. The afternoon went by, and the storm howled and raged. Two hours later the family gathered for tea, and when the meal was half over Aunt Mary, who was staying with Mrs. F., had not appeared. Mrs. F. started an investigation. She did not have to ask many questions. John answered the first one.

"Please, mother, she is up on the roof."

English "As She Is Wrote."

Some ludicrous mistakes are made by some of the French-Canadian people in our New England cotton mill towns in their attempt to master English.

One summer a grain dealer in Somersworth, N. H., received a written order from one of his French customers, which read as follows.

"Please send
"I bag hole corn.
"I mix field.
"5 pounds acid."

The clerk, who has had many years' experience with these people, said at once, "Send him a bag of whole corn, a bag of mixed feed and five pounds of grass seed, or as the French people put it, 'hayseed.'"

And he was right.

At another time an order was received for a bag of "corn broke," and at still another an order for a bag of "corn not broke."—Boston Herald.

Chimneys Are Fickle.

"The hardest problem the builder has to wrestle with," said a well known member of the profession, "is the chimney. What the heathen Chinese is to the human race and the left handed mule to the animal kingdom the chimney is to the various appurtenances that go to make up a human habitation. There is no safe rule for the construction of chimneys. You can build a chimney all right in theory, but when it comes down to practice that is another matter. Build two chimneys side by side in precisely the same manner. Employ the best skilled labor and construct them exactly on the same principles. One may draw all right and the other one smoke like a Chocaw. Yes, sir, the chimney is beyond all understanding, and any builder will tell you so."

Webster's Retainer.

One day a man entered Daniel Webster's office and consulted him in regard to a prospective lawsuit. At the close of the conference he paid the attorney a retainer of $100 to look after the matter. Upon returning to his place of business he found that his partner had already settled the suit, obtaining the sum demanded without an attorney. He thought $100 was altogether too much for an office fee, so he dispatched his clerk to look after the subject.

"Mr. Webster," said the young man, "my employer thinks you should return a part of your retainer. That case has been settled."

"Young man," said the lawyer, "you go back and tell your employer that a retainer is something to be retained."

Curing a Pampered Pet.

A very clever veterinary had a system all his own. When he received an overfed toy dog he would consign him to a disused brick oven with a crust of bread, an onion and an old boot. When the dog began to gnaw the bread the anxious mistress was informed that her darling was "doing nicely." When it commenced operations on the onion word was sent that the pet was "decidedly better," but when the animal tackled the boot my lady was gratified to hear that her precious pet was "ready to be removed."—Woman's Home Companion.

How It Started.

"Talk about human beings having descended from such as you!" exclaimed Poi. "They're much more likely to have evolved from birds. You can't speak their language, and I can."
"I don't deny," responded Joeko, "that they got their long tongues from your family."
It was then that the two had their celebrated monkey and parrot time.—Chicago Tribune.

A French View of Englishmen.

To an American a Frenchman is a waxed mustachio and extraordinary stovepipe hat. In "Chaine Anglaise" the French idea of an Englishman is given. He speaks French with a shocking accent, ends every sentence with "all right" and when he is introduced to a woman does not remove his cap from his head or his pipe from his mouth.

Graft on a Family Tree.

Guest (at anniversary dinner)—You belong to one branch of the host's family, I believe. Poor Relation—Yes; I belong to the branch that never had any plums on it.—Tit-Bits.

In Trade.

Miss Gusher—That is Lord Noodlehead. He made his money in trade.
Miss Slusher—What line?
Miss Gusher—Matrimonial. He traded his title for an heiress.

All serious souls are better believers in immortality than we can give grounds for.—Emerson.

Peanut Trade Secrets.

Some peanuts that are bought ready roasted are of a light yellow color. Others, however, are pronounced brutes. There is a reason for this. The great American peanut will remain crisp only a day or two after roasting and in damp weather only a few hours. It absorbs moisture rapidly, so that two days after roasting the finest nuts lose their crispness and are to all intents and purposes as though they had never been cooked. The Italian and Greek peanut men freshen up their stocks by roasting again and re-roasting. When the process has been repeated three or four times, though, the peanut begins to take on a tawny hue, which is considered objectionable by those who have stands in the better parts of town. These much roasted goobers are therefore sold at a discount to Greeks and Italians who have stands near railroad stations and the cheaper resorts, who can roast, re-roast and re-roast them indefinitely until they are finally sold.—New York Press.

A Camera Fiend.

A well known criminal lawyer one day sauntered into a police court just as a case was called. It appeared that the defendant had no attorney, and the judge glanced about the room to see whom he might assign to the case.

"I'll take it, judge," the late comer said, wishing to pass away the time.

"By the way, what is the man charged with?" the attorney presently asked.

"He's a camera fiend of the worst sort, Mr. Brown," the judge said, with a slight smile. "I expect to send him to the workhouse for about three months."

"What?" the lawyer shouted indignantly. "Your honor must be joking. Send a man to the rock pile for three months for a little harmless amusement like taking pictures?"

"Well," the judge said mildly, "he doesn't take pictures much—it's the cameras he takes."—New York Times.

A Wonderful Escape.

Fieschi tried to assassinate King Louis Philippe of France in July, 1835. The king was riding along the lines of the national guard in the Boulevard du Temple. There came a crash and a rush of bullets. Louis Philippe's arm was grazed, his horse was shot in the neck, Marshal Mortier fell dead and about thirteen other people were killed and thirty wounded. Fieschi had taken the upper floors of a house several weeks before and there rigged up an oak frame four feet by three feet six inches, supported on four posts of oak and itself supporting twenty-five gun barrels fixed in grooves at various angles so as to command an area of twenty-five feet in length and ten feet in height. When he fired the train of powder that let off his battery the king would have been killed if four barrels had not burst and two missed fire.

Ancient Locks.

Locks were used in the time of the pharaohs. At Karnak the visitor is shown the sculptured representation of a lock which is almost exactly like one kind of lock used in Egypt at the present day. Homer says that Penelope used a brass key to open her wardrobe. He adds that it was very crooked and had an ivory handle. A Greek writer who lived in the last half of the twelfth century explains that such keys were undoubtedly very ancient, although still to be seen in Constantinople and elsewhere. Roman locks, like the Egyptian, required a partial sliding of the key. They were, however, more intricate.

Darwin and Books.

Of Darwin it is affirmed that he seemed unaware of the difference in the value of books and would treat a Zschandorf binding with the same scant courtesy that he exercised toward a penny pamphlet. Covers appeared to him a useless weight and decidedly in the way, and he often got rid of them by ripping them off. Sometimes the book was borrowed. It is said that in the end his friends used to give him any book which he wished to borrow, for they knew that, if it were ever returned, its usefulness as a book would be at an end.

Have a Definite Aim.

No life amounts to much until it has a programme—something definite, something particular. Nothing else can take the place of it. Education cannot, talent cannot, genius cannot, hard work cannot. Until there is a definite aim the energies will run to waste, the ability be squandered. The faculties deteriorate when working without a definite aim.

With Lightning Rapidity.

"Wonderful eye that boy of mine's got," said the proud father.
"That so?" mechanically replied the man who was trying to get away.
"You never saw such a sense of proportion," cried the proud father. "Pass that boy the cake dish and he'll spit the biggest piece on it every time."

A Political Pointer.

Bragley—Restaurant waiters would make strong candidates if they were in politics. Don't you think so? Wigway—I don't see how. Bragley—Haven't you noticed that they carry everything before them?

Proof Positive.

Impertinent Neighbor—Do you think Mr. Smith is in love with your sister Alice? Children—Oh, no! Us children are allowed to go in the parlor when he is calling.—New York Times.

Serious.

Dashaway—Don't you think that for such a wealthy chap Duffins takes his pleasures seriously? Cleverton—He has to. They are all he has to worry about.

MERIT

The Only Thing That Counts

This Ready-to-Wear Clothing and Shoe Business has made a wonderful advance in the last few years. It has been a steady, strong growth—not produced by sensational or clap-trap methods.

Why Has It Grown?

Because people believe in us—because Merit is the only thing that permanently makes success.

If a business can hold its old customers despite the efforts of competitors to lure them away, and in addition steadily gains new trade, it's an entirely safe proposition that it is going ahead every year. That's exactly what we are doing. The place where so many are satisfied must be a good place to deal—don't you think so? Now a word about

Fall and Winter Goods

Men's Suits and Overcoats

to begin with, at $10, $12 and $15, we are showing better values than former years; more style, better made and in all the latest shades including Black and Blue.

Young Men's Suits and Overcoats at the following prices: $12, $10, $8 and $5, fourteen patterns to select from, every garment is warranted.

Children's Suits and Overcoats

in great variety at $5, $3.50, $3 and $2, splendidly tailored and made of all wool goods. You'll find these very big bargains.

UNDERWEAR

for Men, Women and Children, all sorts and sizes. Men's extra heavy fleeced Shirts and Drawers at 37c, value 50c.

Ladies' Coats

Four new models this week, at $7.50, worth $10: English all wool Kersey cloth, 50 inches long, in black, tan, castor and plaid, trimmed with braid and pan velvet, also strapped, a beautiful garment for seven-fifty, besides 20 styles of others from $20 down to $5.

A Word About Shoes

The Shoe business this season will be the hardest to contend with, for the reason that leather is high and therefore a great many manufacturers counterfeit their goods. Here is where we come in. We saw this advance coming and therefore bought early,—the result is we paid no advance and can therefore sell our Shoes at the same old price. Besides this, we warrant every pair of Shoes we sell to give good wear or a new pair in exchange. MEN'S and WOMEN'S SHOES from $1.50 to $3.50, besides WALK-OVER Shoes, which are $3.50, $4 and $5.

CHILDREN'S SCHOOL SHOES, the best in the land from $2 down as low as 75c.

METROPOLITAN CLOTHING AND SHOE

Nos. 1 and 2
Oppenheimer Building

HOUSE BEDFORD, PA.

Wholesale and Retail

SECOND MONTHLY REPORT

Of Bedford Public Schools.—Large Number on Honor Roll.

The following is the report of the Bedford public schools for the month ending October 26:

Number male pupils registered. 191
Number female pupils registered 212
Total enrollment to date. 403
Percentage of attendance, males 89
Percentage of attendance, females 86
Number of pupils present every day. 187
Number of visitors. 15

Honor Roll

High School.—Ira M. Long, assistant principal; Miss Emily Statler, second assistant.

Senior Class: Calton Heckerman, Nellie Leonard. Junior Class: Gail Blackburn, Charles Lutz, Winnie Armstrong. C Class: John Manbeck, Stella Sarnost. D Class: Hazel Barnett, Maroa Lingle, Juliet Wright, Thomas Arnold, Helen Baracott, Gretchen Grumming, Ruth Allen, Edith Smith, Edith Stewart, Regina Calhoun.

Senior Grammar.—Margaret McCleery, teacher.

A Class: Cornelia Pennell, Rose Lutz, George Heit, Harry Rohm, Joseph Fisher, Elsie Weisel, Nina Deibauha, Corina Rush, Durbin Steiner. B Class: Vance Mundweller, Dorothy Donahoe, Esby Diehl, Forest Reichard.

Junior Grammar.—Clara E. Rindard, teacher.

A Class: Edith Claar, Edna Seifert, George Bain. B Class: Russell Pohn.

Third Intermediate.—Carrie Ray Filler, teacher.

A Class: Margaret Cromwell, Anna McLaughlin, Ada Leonard, Mildred Shuck, Lucy Imler, Raymond Burke, Christopher Crawley. B Class: Nellie Miller, Lena Imler.

Second Intermediate.—Bessie Donahoe, teacher.

A Class: Catherine McLaughlin, Florence Smith, Alice Colvin, Virginia Snell, Katie Davis, Howard Steiner, Mary Hughes, Ethel McCreary, Carroll Grimmering, Renee Oppenheimer, Frank Lessig, Martha Kramer. B Class: Grace Davis.

First Intermediate.—Florence E. Ling, teacher.

A Class: Dorothy Lutz, Kathleen Tate, Magdalene Reed, Katherine White, Harry Imler, Mary May, Kulp

Metzger, Clara Mills, Fannie Oppenheimer.

Fourth Primary.—Mary Donahoe, teacher.

A Class: Catharine Snell, Fred Smith, Ruth Naus, Nancy Allen, Zella Dibert. B Class: Edith Foster, Helen Barnes.

Third Primary.—Anna L. Cleaver, teacher.

A Class: Lillian Strock, Helen Pearson, Fannie Baylor, Roy Mervine, Kathleen McLaughlin, Ned Shuck, Oscar Straub, Roy Allen. B Class: Ethel Rose.

Second Primary.—Mabel A. Welshonoe, teacher.

A Class: Margaret Pepple, Marshall Powell, Helen Smith, Lester Mills, Nellie Earnest, David Gardner. B Class: Margaret Metzger, Jesse Stewart, Josephine Conner, Neil Middleton, Lorraine Mock, Pauline Mock, Mildred Leonard, Kenneth Brightbill.

First Primary.—Lizzie M. Bain, teacher.

A Class: Thelma Arnold, Olva McPherson, Lizzie Grace, Margaret Johnson, George Enfield, John Miller, Miriam McLaughlin, Lloyd Price, Margaret Gates, Pauline Davis. B Class: Alma Piper, Maud Gervin, Nellie McCreary, Ernestine Wills.

The Game Laws

The following are the game laws in Pennsylvania, limited to one person: Bear unlimited, October 1 to March 1; blackbirds, unlimited, September 1 to January 1; doves, unlimited, September 1 to January 1; deer and fawn, one each season, November 15 to December 1; pheasant and ruffed grouse, five in one day, 20 in one week, 75 in one season, October 15 to December 1; rabbits, unlimited, November only; quail, 10 in one day, 40 in one week, 75 in one season, November only; wild ducks, 10 in one day, 100 in one season, September 1 to January 1; geese, two in one day, 10 in one season, September 1 to January 1 and first fifteen days in April; wild turkey, one in one day, four in one season, October 15 to December 1; squirrel—fox, black and gray, six of combined kinds in one day, October 1 to December 1; shore birds, unlimited, September 1 to January 1; snipe—Jack and Wilson—unlimited, July 15 to December 1. It is illegal to have a ferret in possession in field or forest.

Subscribe for The Gazette.

Unofficial Vote of Bedford County for 1906

DISTRICTS

	Gov.	Lt. Gov.	Aud.	Gen.	S. of I. A.	Congress.	Senate.	Repre.	Director of Poor.	Jury Com.
	Smart, R.	Chamery, D.	Black, D.	Young, R.	Creasy, D.	Houch, R.	Green, D.	Keynolds, R.	Thropp, D.	Miller, R.	Koontz, D.	Oster, R.	Doyle, D.	Hillgas, R.	Cesana, D.	Wright, R.	Diehl, D.
DISTRICTS
Bedford Borough, E. W.	96	164	98	159	99	164	99	159	117	148	110	145	93	170	99	163	101	159
Bedford Borough, W. W.	107	116	106	116	106	116	103	113	114	105	115	106	99	124	111	111	109	112
Bedford Township	161	276	159	274	156	274	158	270	171	264	166	266	164	275	161	274	161	271
Bloomfield	100	44	100	43	100	42	100	42	99	42	99	43	104	40	101	43	101	43
Broad Top	301	184	297	169	299	166	299	167	308	148	309	159	325	167	301	159	298	164
Coaldale	32	22	32	21	32	21	31	21	30	24	31	22	30	24	31	20	31	21
Colerain	60	155	61	152	61	154	61	152	61	154	61	154	62	154	61	153	60	154
Cumberland Valley	44	130	43	127	44	122	43	128	46	127	51	120	46	129	50	123	44	129
Everett	184	224	187	218	187	226	189	219	173	237	170	232	176	235	189	220	182	231
Harrison	90	68	89	67	88	72	90	66	92	71	88	71	93	70	97	66	90	69
Hopewell Borough	63	66	62	66	62	67	65	63	57	65	58	66	64	62	59	65	63	63
Hopewell Township	157	83	155	82	155	64	154	63	161	66	156	60	160	58	155	62	155	62
Hyndman	87	92	91	86	91	92	92	82	96	96	86	101	99	90	96	83	93	89
Juniata	86	144	84	144	85	146	85	142	82	149	86	147	85	147	91	141	86	144
Kimmell	58	89	58	89	58	89	59	88	59	88	60	97	59	89	58	88	58	89
King	68	87	69	84	68	85	70	82	67	83	72	80	65	83	68	85	67	85
Liberty	108	111	107	109	111	112	111	107	111	114	105	112	115	106	107	108	108	110
Lincoln	56	19	54	19	55	19	55	16	56	19	51	19	60	14	54	19	56	17
Londonderry	103	78	103	78	103	78	104	77	104	76	101	80	105	77	105	76	103	78
Mann	60	66	55	65	58	64	55	63	52	70	56	66	50	66	58	58	57	64
Mann's Choice	37	47	36	47	35	47	37	46	36	47	38	45	35	48	37	45	35	48
Monroe	155	173	157	168	157	170	157	168	154	174	152	169	159	169	156	170	156	171
Napier	114	155	113	154	116	160	117	151	118	150	118	150	117	155	117	155	117	157
New Paris	9	13	8	13	9	30	9	13	12	15	10	19	8	13	11	19	10	19
Pleasantville	23	11	35	8	32	16	32	9	33	8	33	6	32	8	32	8	34	8
Providence, East	206	101	205	99	205	100	205	99	203	102	202	100	206	98	206	98	205	99
Providence, West	178	193	178	198	173	199	175	195	166	213	172	198	175	201	176	198	174	194
Rainsburg	22	23	21	33	21	33	21	33	21	35	22	31	21	36	19	35	20	33
Saxton	113	102	110	102	110	117	109	99	111	121	110	102	109	106	109	102	107	102
Schellsburg	29	52	27	51	28	53	28	51	31	50	27	53	30	52	29	50	27	53
Snake Spring	45	101	49	96	49	98	49	96	45	100	50	97	48	102	49	99	48	100
Southampton No. 1	4	35	4	35	4	35	4	35	4	35	4	35	4	35	4	35	4	35
Southampton No. 3	37	75	37	73	37	72	37	71	49	60	35	71	39	72	37	74	37	73
St. Clairville	10	6	10	6	10	6	10	6	9	7	10	5	14	2	10	6	9	7
St. Clair, East	125	126	126	123	126	125	126	122	127	121	127	120	157	97	126	122	125	123
St. Clair, West	68	58	70	56	69	60	69	58	75	59	68	57	81	47	69	55	70	56
Union	54	22	54	22	54	22	54	22	53	22	56	21	55	21	54	22	54	22
Woodbury Borough	30	19	31	19	31	21	31	19	30	19	30	18	33	17	31	18	31	17
Woodbury Township	103	48	105	46	106	45	106	43	98	53	101	47	105	44	103	46	104	45
Woodbury, South	179	139	181	135	179	136	180	134	173	141	178	135	181	138	181	134	180	135
Totals	3569	3729	3565	3640	3569	3726	3581	3607	3595	3703	3574	3647	3710	3638	3608	3618	3560	3661
Pluralities	160		75		157		26		108		63		72		10			101

For Governor, Castle, Prohibitionist, 56; Maurer, Socialist, 63; Desmond, Socialist Labor, 2.
For Congress, Bailey, Bryan, 34; Blake, Pennsylvania Blacksmith, 10.

On the Turn of a Hair

By GRACE MACGOWAN COOKE

Copyright, 1906, by Ruby Douglas

"Suffering Moses! Hochaska, it's heads I win, tails you lose, playin' poker with you these days. I rung in five jacks on you that hand an' you never turned a hair. What's up?"

The cowboy pushed back and regarded his silent companion quizzically.

The Indian glanced over his shoulder, laid a fine, slender hand upon the table and, leaning forward, whispered: "Burnt Bear runs his spotted pony in the races next week."

The cowboy nodded, stooping to tighten a spur leather.

"Keep your long green, pard," he said, with bent head. "I was just a-foolin' them last three games. Well? The old chief runs his spotted pony in the races—and the gal is up here turnin' Hochaska's heart to water—is that the how of it?"

Again the Indian looked over his shoulder before he nodded.

"He has her up at the agency," he burst out fiercely. "You know Mallock! It was Mallock before. What chance has a decent Indian girl as pretty as Ally with a father like she's got—and that beast around?"

"Hochaska," began the cowboy, "you're a fool—hold on! Don't you git gay, now! They whooped you off to the effete east and pumped good learnin' into you till you've got books whipped to a standstill and you can doctor a sick hawse to beat any man between the Pecos and the Mississippi—but common sense you're short on."

"The reason's plain 'nough, pardner. The old man's out after the coin. You've got to bid up. You're sure a good looker and you're a plumb gentleman, Hochaska—jest the son-in-law I'd make a grab at if I was a Sioux chief with a pretty daughter to marry off."

"I have offered him all I have—and a mortgage on my future. Nothing will do."

"Somebody else is biddin' higher," reiterated the cowboy. "Or he thinks they will."

"Ally would come to me," said the Indian desperately. "It is not as it was before. Mallock's wife was living then. He may hold out hopes of a marriage to Burnt Bear."

The cowboy was up and ready to depart now. "If that there spotted pony should go lame, Chaska," he remarked, "they hasn't a man but you that could doctor it—and the race comin' on next week. If such should happen I reckon you could name your price."

An eager fire leaped into the Indian's somber eyes. "I could," he answered. "But no such thing will happen. Burnt Bear sleeps with the pony's stake rope to his wrist."

"Don't you be too sure," remonstrated the cowboy. "I've got money up on that cayuse, an' I'm mighty uneasy that he's about to get some sort of complaint in his right hind foot. The old man knows I'm bettin' heavy on his hawseflesh an' him an' me is great pals—he's thicker'n thieves. So long, Chaska."

He stepped to the front of the blacksmith shop, swung into the saddle and disappeared.

All day long the young Indian served his customers and attended to his usual duties with an air of preoccupation. He guessed what simple trick his cow puncher friend had in mind. If the game went through successfully, would the father pay the price?

Crowds were gathering for next week's races and business was brisk. For this scientific blacksmith and veternarian of their own race who had learned his trade among the white men was a prime favorite.

The forge fire had died down to a smoldering red eye and the young blacksmith sat half asleep before his door when a stealthy sound from the steep slope behind his cabin roused him. It differed not at all from a hundred other small night sounds which had preceded it, yet he was suddenly broad awake and listening. It came again. He sprang to his feet. Once more—and he was walking rapidly toward the precipitous path which led up to his spring.

Within ten paces of the bushes which concealed it he halted. Out of those bushes soundlessly moved the shadowy form of a man leading a pony.

"How do?" said the newcomer, and Hochaska recognized the voice of Burnt Bear.

In the tongue which was common to them both the old chief stated, with the frankness of despair, that the spotted pony had gone suddenly lame.

"I have watched him as though he were my child," he declared. "And now tonight I find his right hind foot is lame. Have you a quick cure? I care not if in the end it kills the pony, so that he be not lame when the race is run, for if he does not win this race I, Burnt Bear, must walk back to our people stripped and destitute."

The young smith drew up and folded his arms. He saw that something melodramatic was expected of him. He was to play the big medicine man. If Billy had only done his part and not overdone it and this lameness were not actual he could carry out the trick.

"I have," he said. "I have a bottle of medicine so strong and valuable that I have never used it upon the ponies of these common Indians nor even on the horses of the white men. Whatever lamed your spotted pony, this medicine will cure him. But I must have my price."

"Cure first, pay after," said the old Indian sententiously.

The lover gathered courage from the fact that the price itself was not mentioned. He held out his hand for the bottle, and Burnt Bear permitted him to lead the pony down to the forge fire.

It well suited the young blacksmith to halt in the darkness, run to the shop for a harmless bottle of volatile oils which would smell loud and look well. Then, stooping, he took the slim pastern in his hands. The foot was hot and throbbing. Those deft digits, warmed where to seek, cleverly interrogated the joint about the smallest portion of the joint. Ah, it was there! He snapped it. The relieved pony put down a grateful nose toward his shoulder. Then with skilled movements Hochaska rubbed and kneaded the member to hasten the impeded circulation.

For an hour he worked thus; the dramatic values must be preserved. Occasionally he walked the pony about, and its owner could see the lameness decreasing. At the end of that time he straightened up and said:

"Burnt Bear, your horse is sound. Shall I name my price?"

The old man grunted, felt the foot, saw that the fever was all out of it, then, taking the bridle rein into his hand, led the pony back and forth till he was certain there was no limping in that gait. "It is magic indeed!" he declared, with proud generosity, then turned, peered over his shoulder into the darkness of the trail and lifted his hand sharply.

From where she had stood an hour or more, motionless as the stems of the young birch trees about her, there slipped silently forward and approached him a slim, light footed Indian girl. Impassively he motioned toward Hochaska, and she fled to her lover.

But following her, so that one might almost have thought it her shadow, the form of a man entered the circle of light.

"This is the way you keep your bargains, you old renegade, is it?" Mallock snarled, pointing to where the lovers stood hand in hand.

"I make a new bargain," returned Burnt Bear imperturbably. "I make any bargain when my pony go lame."

Mallock's loosely hanging hands clinched themselves into fists. Rage seemed to overpower caution. "Nine Spot lame? Who lamed him?" Looking about and receiving no answer, he went on in a louder, more confident tone: "Who lamed Nine Spot?" he inquired hotly. "I'm here to prove that Hochaska slipped in and lamed the beast to get even with you about Ally, and now you give him your daughter to cure it. Burnt Bear, you're nine sorts of a fool!"

It is not courteous or even safe to tell a Sioux chief that he is as much as one sort of plain, unqualified fool. Burnt Bear started for Mallock, and the Englishman began to explain how he had seen Hochaska tying a horse-hair around Nine Spot's pastern to produce the lameness.

Burnt Bear halted uncertainly. It was apparent that he had been tricked by some one, and when he felt sure of the culprit, there would be a reckoning.

Matters hung thus in the balance for a moment. Hochaska tightened his arm about the girl and decided to assume the responsibility of anything Billy had done, but to keep Altamaha now he had her.

"Hold on, hold on, my noble red man!" cried a cheerful voice, and a rider galloped up to the smithy.

"It's all right to eat Mallock, Burnt Bear," the cowboy explained as he leaped from saddle, "but you want to know just what you're eatin' 'im for." The Englishman drew back. "Don't go," urged Billy, laying a constraining hand upon his arm. "We can't spare you."

He turned to the three Indians, who stood regarding the white man curiously.

"Burnt Bear," he began, "you know what I've bet on Nine Spot. I've been watchin' that cayuse most as close as you have. Tonight, before you got around to him, I was up on the knob where he grazes. You thought it was light enough so you could see the hawse from where you was down at the camp—settin' by the door of your wicky-up. But there was a great big snake in the grass that you couldn't see, wormin' itself along to Nine Spot's heels, and I thinks to myself, 'Does the feller want to have his brains kicked out?' Then as I watches 'im he nooses up a long, stout hawse-hair, so fast, and slips it around the pony's hock."

"Let up on me," growled Mallock under his breath.

"An' that there snake in the grass wasn't Hochaska," explained Billy genially. He suppressed the further information that there was a rubber band in his own pocket prepared to do a like service at the time he discovered Mallock playing the trick ahead of him.

"Here's your pony lamer, Burnt Bear—take him." And with a sudden unexpected jerk the cowboy flung Mallock almost into Burnt Bear's arms.

"Bless you, my children," he concluded, turning to Hochaska and the girl. "I'll skip down to Casey's and take some good bets on the pony. Mallock has done spread the news that Nine Spot's gone dead lame, and we stand to make good money if it don't get out too soon that Hochaska has cured him."

Are you troubled with piles? One application of Manzan will give you immediate relief. Sold by J. Reed

Coal! Coal! Coal!

Georges Creek and Anthracite coal. Leave orders with W. A. Debaugh or H. C. Davidson. "Square Deal" for all. DAVIDSON BROS., Bedford.

Brought to Book at Last.

Tibbie was a Scotch lass, hardworking and comely. She ruled over a grateful and suppressed family of New Englanders for eight years, and then announced her intention of marrying within six weeks.

"I suppose it is Rab whom you mean to marry, Tibbie?" asked her nominal mistress, referring to a tall, mild faced young Scotchman who had spent more or less time in Tibbie's spotless kitchen for the last three years.

"It is," announced Tibbie calmly. "Here he's been coming and sitting w' me all these times and never a word o' marryin'. So at long last I said to him, 'If you've no mind to tak me, Rab, ye can jist say so, and I'll spend me more on bright ribbons to sit up w' ye, but I'll tak' my money to buy one of those talkin' machines that plays tunes, after I've paid for a strip o' new oilcloth to cover the floor where you've worn out the old one, and then I'll tak' my releegeous books and settle down in quiet.'"

"Rabbie was so concerned at my drear prospects and the thoughts o' my savings he said he would ha'e me whenever I got ready."

Shooting Down the Alps on Skies.

The quest for a moral is provoked by a long list of skidding accidents in the Alps. In itself the exercise can hardly be considered more perilous than skating, though the proportion of sprained ankles and twisted tendons is higher, but when the skier seeks a distance from his base and ventures upon unfamiliar ground there are at least three ways in which calamity is liable to befall him. On a glacier he may break through the snow bridge which he is trying to shoot and be buried in a crevasse. On the hillside he may skee violently down a steep place and, unable to arrest his pace, end by skidding over a precipice. Almost anywhere, unless he knows the signs, he may skee in the tracks of an avalanche and be overwhelmed. Examples of each of these several kinds of disaster have lately been presented, and each of the disasters conveys a warning of which amateur skiers, whose name nowadays is legion, would do well to take a careful note.—London Graphic.

Sufficiently Identified.

She walked into a branch bank on upper Broadway and pushed a check through the paying teller's window.

"You will have to be identified," said he. "I don't know you, madam."

"You don't, eh?" said the woman, with fire in her eye. "Aren't you the father of the Smith family that has a flat in the Dierenin apartments?"

"Yes."

"Well, I am the red headed janitress that your wife's always complaining about. When you left home this mornin' I heard you say: 'Emily, if our children get fightin' with that old fury in the basement don't quarrel with her. Wait till I get home and let me talk with her.' Now, if you think you can get the best of an argument with—"

"Here's your money, madam," said the paying teller. And she took it and went.—Everybody's Magazine.

Where Lincoln Put the Whetstone.

A soldier at whose house when a boy Lincoln paused in his tramps in Illinois and who lent him a whetstone to sharpen his jackknife met him during the war in Washington. Lincoln remembered the incident and spoke of the use of the whetstone.

"Ya-a-s," drawled out the old soldier, "whatever did you do with the whetstone? I never could find it. We looked in the you took it along with you." "No, no! I put it on top of the gatepost—that high one." "Maybe you did. Nobody else could have reached it, and none of us ever thought to look there for it." There it

Avoid alum and alum phosphate baking powders. The label law requires that all the ingredients be named on the labels. Look out for the alum compounds.

NOTE.—Safety lies in buying only Royal Baking Powder, which is a pure, cream of tartar baking powder, and the best that can be made.

NEW YORK LETTER

Number One Thousand Five Hundred Thirty-Six

MARLBOROUGH MUDDLE.

Salaries Paid to New York Opera Singers Would Drain Mines of Golconda.

New York, November 5.—It only seems like yesterday since our Court Journal announced the betrothal of the daughter of William K. Vanderbilt to the Duke of Marlborough. The announcement caused a decided sensation in the circle of the Four Hundred; we felt that we were getting along and if we only behaved ourselves, and increased our bank account so that we could give a bridal dot of five or ten millions instead of one, who knows but the day might come when we might catch a Prince of the blood; there is only one step between the Duke and a Throne. We had bagged a number of third class counts, mostly impetuous Italians, who hardly knew which way to turn for a breakfast; our million-heiresses had secured a few second-hand Lords, but Dukes were scarce and those that were in the market were a shady set, every one of whom had a bar-sinister across his escutcheon which informed the world that however respectable the present generation might be, some member of the family from whom it derived whatever claim it had to exceptional social or military distinction, had done something that clouded the family honor and had earned for it the very questionable compliment of a bar-sinister.

The Churchills had no social standing among the nobility of England till King James the Second fell in love with the red headed sister of the Hero of Malplaquet and Blenheim. She was not merely plain, she was ugly; she was the mistress of the King and she helped the Churchills; her brother, known as Handsome Jack, was placed in command of the army in Flanders. After the victories of Malplaquet and Blenheim, Handsome Jack was enrolled with the title of "The Duke of Marlborough," and Parliament voted him the estate, which he christened Blenheim, and several thousand pounds. This was the start of the Marlborough family and there has not been a Churchill of national distinction from that day to this. The father of the present Duke was one of the most disgraceful vagabonds that ever bore that unsavory title.

The report of the divorce was a terrible revelation of the inner life of a portion of the nobility. At the conclusion of the trial every decent door in England was closed against him; he was kicked out of all the clubs to which he formerly belonged and he fled to the United States to repair his damaged fortunes; he had hardly set his foot on American soil, when he was invited by a wealthy widow, a leader in the Four Hundred, to accept the hospitalities of her beautiful mansion at Newport; he remained there a week and at an evening party he met Mrs. Hammersly, one of the most beautiful and wealthiest women in New York society; the courtship was short and sweet; she was looking for social distinction and a Duke, and he was hunting for beauty and very hard cash; no Episcopal Minister could be found to tie the nuptial knot as the Duke had been divorced, so they went to the Mayor's office, who gave them a clean bill of health and took his fee in a kiss of the bride, as he said it was the last chance he might ever have to kiss a Duchess.

On their arrival in England, instead of a rush of England's nobility, not a soul came near them; when she got to Blenheim she found the beautiful castle of which she had heard so much, in ruins; the copper roof was torn in rags and the rain pouring down for years had ruined everything. It cost the Duchess a hundred thousand dollars to make it habitable; when it was finished the brute brought his leman into the castle and installed her in the finest suit of rooms. Flesh and blood could not stand that and the outraged woman prepared to leave Blenheim. At last, worn out by dissipation and disease, the titled vagabond died. The present Duke and his mother took possession of Blenheim and the Duchess, nee Hammersly, was ordered to leave, which she did. There was not a penny in sight in the Marlborough treasury, and the new Duke found he must hustle to meet "the butcher, the baker and the candlestick-maker." Skirmishers were sent out to prospect the promised land. It did not take long for the sharp eyed prospectors to mark Consoelo, the daughter of William K. Vanderbilt, as the victim; she was young, beautiful, rich and ambitious; the Duke hurried to New York and without raising a hand, secured a bride and her dot of millions. That was eleven years ago. She left us a beautiful girl of seventeen, with her soul's hopes realized, a castle waiting for her; the social equal of the proudest nobility, and it was acknowledged on every hand that she was the most popular American bride ever secured by an Englishman. She returns to us a woman in middle life, after eleven years of bitter and sorrowful experience, heart-sore and disappointed; her cherished hopes are like the dead sea's fruit, ashes, ashes, ashes. The happiest homes of England are not to be found in the castles of the nobility, but among the great merchants and manufacturers, whose characters have the Goldsmith's sterling stamp, the class that kept Great Britain's armies on the land and her navies on the sea, and in unwavering loyalty and unshaken courage, made Great Britain what she is today. If our American heiresses desire to live abroad, all right; instead of looking for Dukes and Lords, let them try what is known as the middle class, but which is really the royal class; there you will find homes worthy of the name; loving mothers, true and affectionate wives, graceful and dutiful daughters, with fathers, sons and brothers to match, in short, just as you have them at home.

In a few weeks we shall have two first-class operas going in New York; Mr. Conrad, the Impresario of our Grand Opera for several seasons past, has engaged a company such as no opera manager has ever dared to place on the stage before; the salaries paid to these foreign performers almost stagger belief; the leading tenor, Caruso, gets fifteen hundred dollars per night and there are plenty of other salaries from five hundred to a thousand dollars.

Mr. Oscar Hammerstein, who is an experienced theatrical manager and who built a number of theatres, is going to give us first-class opera at popular prices; he has built a magnificent opera house with a seating capacity of four thousand people; no city in the world, so far, has been able to support two Grand Operas, and a single company had to be backed up by the personal guarantee of a large subsidy, but Mr. Hammerstein "goes it alone." His tenor demands $2,000 per night and his prima donna $1,000; but there are several tenors, sopranos, basses, contraltos and baritones; we are rich, very rich, but such an opera as Mr. Hammerstein promises would drain the mines of Golconda.

Politics have been seething, boiling, and I regret to say in some instances personally bitter. The two leading candidates have been making eight and nine speeches a day; the goal is near and we shall soon know who has won the prize.

Broadbrim.

A Good Record

Out of all the external remedies on the market we doubt if there is one that has the record of that world-renowned porous plaster—Alcock's. It has now been in use for 60 years, and still continues to be as popular as ever in doing its great work of relieving our pains and aches. It is the remedy we all need when suffering from any form of ache or pain resulting from taking cold or over-strain.

Alcock's Plasters are sold by Druggists in every part of the civilized world.

Dairy and Food Commission's Report

The Minnesota Dairy and Food Commission's analysis shows that Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar and Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar contained opiates and croton oil. Opiates are poisons and croton oil is a violent poisonous purgative. Refuse to accept any but Foley's Honey and Tar in a yellow package. Foley's Honey and Tar contains no opiates or dangerous drugs and is the best cough and cold cure. Ed. D. Heckerman.

It is a well known medical fact that pine resin is most effective in the treatment of diseases of the bladder and kidneys. Sufferers from back ache and other trouble, due to faulty action of the kidneys find relief in the use of Pine-ules. $1.00 buys 30 days' treatment. Sold by J. Reed Irvine.

Dancing Proves Fatal

Many men and women catch colds at dances which terminate in pneumonia and consumption. After exposure, if Foley's Honey and Tar is taken it will break up a cold and no serious results need be feared. Refuse any but the genuine in a yellow package. Ed. D. Heckerman.

THE REFUGEES

(Continued from second page.)

CHAPTER XVI.

TWO days after Mme. de Main-teuon's marriage to the king there was held within the humble walls of her little room a meeting which was destined to cause untold misery to many hundreds of thousands of people.

The time had come when the church was to claim her promise from Madame, and her pale cheeks and sad eyes showed how vain it had been for her to try to drown the pleadings of her tender heart by the arguments of the bigots around her. She knew the Huguenots of France. Who could know them better, seeing that she was herself brought up in their faith? She knew their patience, their nobility, their independence, their tenacity. What chance was there that they would conform to the king's wish? A few great nobles might, but the others would laugh at the galleries, the jail, or even the gallows, when the faith of their fathers was at stake. If their creed were no longer tolerated, then, and if they remained true to it, they must either fly from the country or spend a living death tugging at an oar or working in a chain gang upon the roads.

The eloquent Bishop Bossuet was there, with Louvois, the minister of war, and the thin, pale Jesuit, Father la Chaise, each piling argument upon argument to overcome the reluctance of the king. Madame bent over her tapestry and weaved her colored silks in silence, while the king leaned upon his hand and listened with the face of a man who knows that he is driven and yet can hardly turn against the gods. On the low table lay a paper, with pen and ink beside it. It was the order for the revocation, and it only needed the king's signature to make it law.

"And so, father, you are of opinion that if I stamp out heresy in this fashion I shall assure my own salvation in the next world?" he asked.

"You will have merited a reward."

"And you think so, too, M. Bishop?"

"Assuredly, sire."

"Besides, sire," said Pere la Chaise softly, "there would be little need for stronger measures. As I have already remarked to you, you are so beloved in your kingdom that the mere assurance that you had expressed your will upon the subject would be enough to turn them all to the true faith."

"I wish that I could think so, father: I wish that I could think so. But what is this?"

It was his valet who had half opened the door.

"Captain de Catinat is here, sire."

"Ask the captain to enter. Ah!" A happy thought seemed to have struck him. "We shall see what love for me will do in such a matter, for if it is anywhere to be found it must be among my own body servants."

The guardsman had arrived that instant from his long ride, and, leaving Amos Green with the horses, he had come on at once, all dusty and travel stained, to carry his message to the king. He entered now and stood with the quiet ease of a man who is used to such scenes.

"What news, captain?"

"Major de Brissac bade me tell you, sire, that he held the castle of Port-lac, that the lady is safe and that her husband is a prisoner."

Louis and his wife exchanged a quick glance of relief.

"That is well," said he. "By the way, captain, you have served me in many ways of late and always with success. I hear, Louvois, that De la Salle is dead of the smallpox."

"He died yesterday, sire."

"Then I desire that you make out the vacant commission of major to M. de Catinat. Let me be the first to congratulate you, major, upon your promotion."

De Catinat kissed the hand which the monarch held out to him.

"May I be worthy of your kindness, sire?"

"You would do what you could to serve me, would you not? Then I shall put your fidelity to the proof."

"I am ready for any proof."

"It is not a very severe one. You see this paper upon the table. It is an order that all the Huguenots in my dominions shall give up their errors, under pain of banishment or captivity. Now I have hopes that there are many of my faithful subjects who are at fault in this matter, but who will abjure it when they learn that it is my clearly expressed wish that they should do so. Do you follow me?"

"Yes, sire." The young man had turned deadly pale, and he shifted his feet and opened and clasped his hands.

"You are yourself a Huguenot, I understand. I would gladly have you, then, as a first fruit of this great measure. Let us hear from your own lips that you, for one, are ready to follow the lead of your king."

The young guardsman still hesitated, though his doubts were rather as to how he should frame his reply than as to what its substance should be. He felt that in an instant Fortune had wiped out all the good turns which she had done him during his past life and that now, far from being in her debt, he held a heavy score against her. The king arched his eyebrows and drummed his fingers impatiently as he glanced at the downcast face and dejected bearing.

"Why all this thought?" he cried. "You are a man whom I have raised and whom I will raise. He who has a major's epaulet at thirty may carry a marshal's baton at fifty. Your past is mine, and your future shall be no less so. What other hopes have you?"

The Modesty of Women

Naturally makes them shrink from the delicate questions, the obnoxious examinations, and unpleasant local treatments, which some physicians consider essential in the treatment of diseases of women. Yet, if help can be had, it is better to submit to this ordeal than let the disease grow and spread. The trouble is that so often the woman undergoes all the annoyance and shame for nothing. Thousands of women who have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription write in appreciation of the cure which dispenses with the examinations and local treatments. There is no other medicine so sure and safe for delicate women as "Favorite Prescription." It cures debilitating drains, irregularity and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures. It is strictly non-alcoholic, non-secret, all its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper; contains no deleterious or habit-forming drugs, and every native medicinal root entering into its composition has the full endorsement of those most eminent in the several schools of medical practice. Some of these numerous and strongest of professional endorsements of its ingredients, will be found in a pamphlet wrapped around the bottle, also in a booklet mailed free on request, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. These professional endorsements should have far more weight than any amount of the ordinary lay, or non-professional testimonials.

The most intelligent women now-a-days insist on knowing what they take as medicine instead of opening their mouths like a lot of young birds and gulping down whatever is offered them. "Favorite Prescription" is of known composition. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound. If sick consult the Doctor, free of charge by letter. All such communications are held sacredly confidential.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate and regulate stomach, liver and bowels.

"I have none, sire, outside your service."

"Why this silence, then? Why do you not give the assurance which I demand?"

"I cannot do it, sire. It is impossible. I should have no more peace in my mind or respect for myself if I knew that for the sake of position or wealth I had given up the faith of my fathers."

"Man, you are surely mad! There is all that a man could covet upon one side, and what is there upon the other?"

"There is my honor."

"And is it, then, a dishonor to embrace my religion?"

"It would be a dishonor to me to embrace it for the sake of gain without believing in it."

"Then believe it."

"Alas, sire, a man cannot force himself to believe. Belief is a thing which must come to him, not he to it."

"On my word, father," said Louis, glancing, with a bitter smile, at his Jesuit confessor, "I shall have to pick the cadets of the household from your seminary, since my officers have turned casuists and theologians. So, for the last time, you refuse to obey my request?"

"Oh, sire"— De Catinat took a step forward, without outstretched hands and tears in his eyes.

But the king checked him with a gesture. "I desire no protestations," said he. "I judge a man by his acts. Do you abjure or not?"

"I cannot, sire."

"You see," said Louis, turning again to the Jesuit, "it will not be as easy as you think."

"This man is obstinate, it is true, but many others will be more yielding."

The king shook his head. "I would that I knew what to do," said he. "Madame, I know that you at least will ever give me the best advice. You have heard all that has been said. What do you recommend?"

She kept her eyes still fixed upon her tapestry, but her voice was firm and clear as she answered:

"You have yourself said that you are the eldest son of the church. If the eldest son desert her, then who will do her bidding?"

Louis took up the pen from the table and drew the paper toward him.

"I have the same counsel, then, from all of you," said he; "from you, bishop; from you, madame; from you, abbe, and from you, Louvois. Well, if I come from it, may it not be visited upon me. But what is this?"

De Catinat had taken a step forward with his hand outstretched. His ar-

"Do not sign it, sire," he cried. "I, impetuous nature had suddenly broken down all the barriers of caution, and he seemed for the instant to see that countless throngs of men, women and children of his own faith, all unable to say a word for themselves and all looking to him as their champion and spokesman.

"Do not sign it, sire," he cried. "You will live to wish that your hand had withered ere it grasped that pen. I know it, sire: I am sure of it. Consider all these helpless folk—the little children, the young girls, the old and the feeble. Their creed is themselves."

As well ask the leaves to change the twigs on which they grow. They could not change. At most you could but hope to turn them from honest folk into hypocrites. And why should you do it? They honor you. They love you. They harm none. They are proud to serve in your armies, to fight for you, to work for you, to build up the greatness of your kingdom. I implore you, sire, to think again before you sign an order which will bring misery and desolation to so many."

For a moment the king had hesitated as he listened to the short, abrupt sentences in which the soldier pleaded for his fellows. But his face hardened again as he remembered how even his own personal entreaty had been unable to prevail with this young dandy of the court.

"France's religion should be that of France's king," said he, "and if my own guardsmen thwart me in such a matter I must find others who will be more faithful. That major's commission in the mousquetaires must go to Captain de Belmont, Louvois."

"Very good, sire."

"And De Catinat's commission may be transferred to Lieutenant Labodoyere."

"Very good, sire."

"And I am to serve you no longer?"

"You are too dainty for my service."

De Catinat's arms fell listlessly to his side, and his head sank forward upon his breast. Then, as he realized the ruin of all the hopes of his life and the cruel injustice with which he had been treated, he broke into a cry of despair and rushed from the room with the hot tears of impotent anger running down his face. So, sobbing, gesticulating, with coat unbuttoned and hat awry, he burst into the stable where placid Amos Green was smoking his pipe and watching with critical eyes the grooming of the horses.

"To Paris! To Paris!" shouted the guardsman frantically. If I am ruined I may yet be in time to save them. The horses, quick!

Kemp's Balsam

Will stop any cough that can be stopped by any medicine and cure coughs that cannot be cured by any other medicine.

It is always the best cough cure. You cannot afford to take chances on any other kind.

KEMP'S BALSAM cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, grip, asthma and consumption in first stages.

It does not contain alcohol, opium, morphine, or any other narcotic, poisonous or harmful drug.

Way back in 1835 when "Old Hickory" was President

Schenck's Mandrake Pills were first introduced. Since then, almost every family in the United States has used them at some time, and they have steadily grown in public favor. They are now a household word all over this country.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS

are the surest of all cures for Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Constipation, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Giddiness, Heartburn, Flatulency, Nausea, Jaundice, Malaria, etc.

They "Live the Liver," and bring health and good spirit. Purely Vegetable. Absolutely Harmless. For Sale Everywhere. 25 cents a box, or by mail.

DR. J. H. SCHENCK & SON, Philadelphia, Pa.

PATENTS

PROSECUTED AND DEFENDED. Free model drawing made. Our lawyers board and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business done with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.

Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 523 Ninth Street, opp. United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CASNOW & CO.

This is Worth Remembering

As no one is immune, every person should remember that Foley's Kidney Cure will cure any case of kidney or bladder trouble (that is not beyond the reach of medicine. Ed. D. Heckerman.

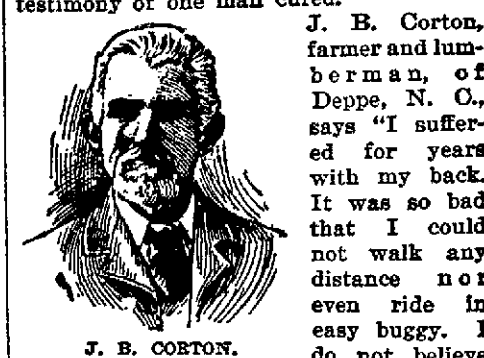

Tone the liver, move the bowels, cleanse the system. Dado's Little Liver Pills never gripe. Sold by J. Reed Irvine.

If you are not a subscriber of The Bedford Gazette send in your name. It's the county's leading paper.

Couldn't Lift Ten Pounds.

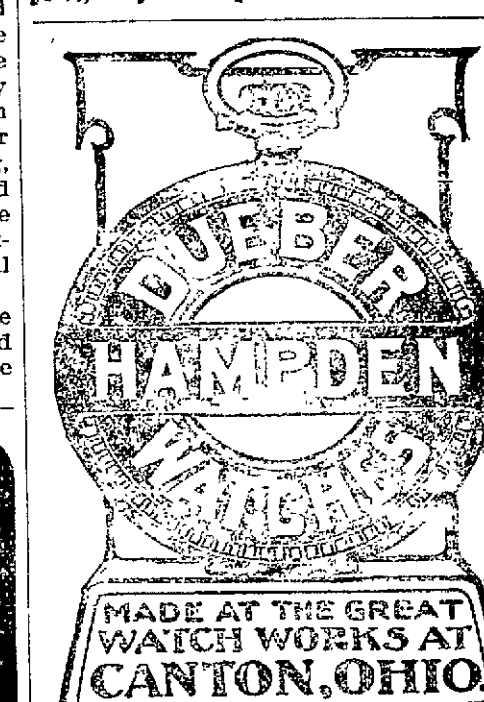

Doan's Kidney Pills Brought Strength and Health to the Sufferer, Making Him Feel Twenty-Five Years Younger.

Sick kidneys cause a weak, lame or aching back, and a weak back makes a weak man. Can't be well and strong until the kidneys are cured. Treat them with Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's the testimony of one man cured.

J. B. Corton, farmer and lumberman, of Deppe, N. C., says "I suffered for years with my back. It was so bad that I could not walk any distance nor even ride in easy buggy. I do not believe I could have raised ten pounds of weight from the ground, the pain was so severe. This was my condition when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They quickly relieved me and now I am never troubled as I was. My back is strong and I can walk or ride a long distance and feel just as strong as I did twenty-five years ago. I think so much of Doan's Kidney Pills that I have given a supply of the remedy to some of my neighbors and they have also found good results. If you can sift anything from this rambling note that will be of any service to you, or to any one suffering from kidney trouble, you are at liberty to do so."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Corton will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers; price, fifty cents per box.

The dealer who doesn't have DUEBER-HAMPDEN WATCHES may tell you they are not the best. He wants to sell what he has—his human nature. Before buying, ask the dealer who has them.

J. W. Ridenour, W. A. Deffbaugh

THE First National Bank

BEDFORD, PA.

Capital $100,000
United States bonds 100,000
Liability of Shareholders 100,000
Surplus and undivided profits 47,000
Security to depositors more than $500,000

Three per cent. interest paid on time deposits.

The accounts of Corporations, Firms and Individuals received upon the most favorable terms consistent with safe and conservative banking.

OFFICERS.

OSCAR D. DOTY President
A. B. EGOLF Vice President
EDMUND S. DOTY Cashier

DIRECTORS.

Oscar D. Doty, Jacob Chamberlain, A. B. Egolf, Patrick Hughes, J. H. Longenecker, Ezra C. Doty, J. Anson Wright

ORGANIZED 1845

"The Old Reliable"

The Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co. of Newark, N. J., the leading annual Dividend Company in the United States, issues the most Liberal Policy, pays the Largest Dividends to policyholders, and pays them annually, beginning with the second year.

Its policy contains special and liberal advantages which are not combined in the policies of any other company. Why insure in other companies with few good advantages when you can get a policy in the Old Mutual Benefit with ALL the good advantages of all companies combined for the same and often less money? Investigate before insuring and be convinced.

W. F. MOORE & SON, Agts., Oct. 12-1f. Bedford, Pa.

SHERRIFF'S SALES

By virtue of sundry writs of Fieri Facias and Levari Facias, issued out of the Court of Common Pleas of Bedford county, and to me directed, there will be exposed to public sale at the court house in the Borough of Bedford, County of Bedford and State of Pennsylvania, at 1 o'clock p. m., on Saturday, November 10, 1906.

All of defendant's right, title and interest of, in and to a lot of ground situated in Lincoln township, Bedford county, Pennsylvania, bounded on the north by David T. Christ, D. P. Mock and S. B. Mock, on the east by Isaac Burkett, on the south by John Barefoot and Elmer Miller, and on the west by S. B. Hartel; containing 133 acres, more or less, and having thereon erected a one and one-half story Log Dwelling House.

Seized and taken in execution and to be sold as the property of John H. Feather, defendant.

Also—All of defendant's right, title and interest of, in and to a certain half of ground situated, lying and being in the Borough of Bedford, County of Bedford and State of Pennsylvania, bounded and described as follows: Fronting 35 feet on north side of Union street and extending north at the same width 200 feet to a 25-foot alley, adjoining Union street on the south, lot of Lydia Fletcher on the west, an alley on the north, and a lot of John R. Barks on the east; having a two-story L. Plank Dwelling, Plank Stable and other out buildings thereon erected.

Seized and taken in execution and to be sold as the property of John T. Barks and Mary Barks, defendants.

Also—All of defendant's right, title and interest of, in and to a tract of land situated, lying and being in Harrison township, Bedford county, Pennsylvania, bounded on the north by lands of Samuel Herr, on the west by lands of Jackson Kerr, on the south by lands of Rufus Zembower, and on the east by lands of John Egolf and Samuel Miller; containing 152 acres, more or less, and having thereon erected a two-story frame Dwelling House and Frame Barn.

Seized and taken in execution and to be sold as the property of Jacob Spiker, defendant.

Also—All of defendant's right, title and interest of, in and to the following tracts of land:

No. 1. A tract of land situated in Monroe township, Bedford county, Pennsylvania, adjoining lands of William M. Hall's heirs, Ira Imbler, other lands of J. B. Adams, Francis Collins and U. S. Leather Company; containing 260 acres, more or less, about 100 acres cleared and balance in timber and having thereon erected a two-story Frame Dwelling House, Barn and other out buildings.

No. 2. A tract of land situated in Monroe township, Bedford county, Pennsylvania, adjoining tract No. 1, above mentioned, lands of John R. Hymes, F. T. Collins, Top Barkman, and Lewis Potts; containing 181 1/2 acres, more or less, about all in timber.

Seized and taken in execution and to be sold as the property of J. B. Adams, defendant.

TERMS.—The price for which the property is sold must be paid at the time of sale, or such other arrangement made as will be approved, otherwise the property will be immediately put up and sold at the risk and expense of the person to whom it was first sold, and in case of deficiency at such resale, shall make good the same, and in no instance will the deed be acknowledged unless the money is actually paid to the sheriff. Purchasers who are lien creditors, must procure certified list of liens for the sheriff in order to apply the amount of bill or any part thereof on their liens.

JOS. P. IMLER, Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, October 17, 1906.

REGISTER'S NOTICES

The following Administrators', and Guardians' and Executors' accounts have been filed in the Recorder's Office for confirmation in the Orphans' Court of Bedford County, Wednesday, November 14, 1906:

1. The second account of B. F. Madore, guardian of Albert C. Ida Maud and Emma Johnson, minor children of Moses Johnson, late of Bedford borough, deceased.

2. The first and final account of H. E. May, administrator and trustee to sell the real estate of Helen M. May, late of Everett borough, deceased.

3. Account of C. R. Williams, administrator of Jesse R. Williams, late of West St. Clair township, Bedford county, Pa., deceased.

4. The first and final account of Silas Robison, executor of the last will and testament of Mary Pott, late of Mann township, Bedford county, Pa., deceased.

5. Account of DeCharmes Davis, Jr., administrator, to sell the real estate of the late Thomas Davis, deceased.

6. Account of A. C. Ellis, executor of the last will and testament of Joseph Kirby, late of King township, Bedford county, Pa., deceased.

7. The first and final account of Uriah Blackburn and Jacob McCreary, executors of Lydia A. Cleaver, late of East St. Clair township, Bedford county, Pa., deceased.

8. The first and final account of George Z. Replogle, administrator d. b. n. c. t. a. of George B. Replogle, late of South Woodbury township, Bedford county, Pa., deceased.

9. The first account of James E. Ford, executor of the last will and testament of M. W. Ford, late of Broad Top township, Bedford county, Pa., deceased.

10. The second and final account of William Beeble, executor of the estate of Betzler Wertz, late of St. Clairsville, Bedford county, Pa., deceased.

11. The account of Wayne Zimmers and Robert C. McNamara, executors of the last will and testament of Samuel Walter, late of Bedford township, deceased.

FRANCIS M. AMOS, Register.

Oct. 19-14.

The Cause of Many

Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and calling pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

PUBLIC SALE of Valuable REAL ESTATE.

The undersigned executor of William Cypher, late of Hopewell township, Bedford county, Pa., deceased, will offer at public sale, on the premises near Cypher station in Hopewell township, on Friday, November 16, 1906,

at one o'clock p. m., the mansion property of William Cypher, deceased, to wit:

A tract of land in Hopewell township, Bedford county, containing 300 acres, more or less, adjoining lands of Daniel and David Cypher, Samuel Ritchey, F. R. Dell, Jabez Lowe and others, and having thereon erected a two-story dwelling, frame barn, wagon shed and all necessary outbuildings. Also a two-story frame tenant house at Cypher station, frame stable and outbuildings. About 150 acres cleared and under fence, and 150 acres well timbered.

On Saturday, November 17, 1906, at one o'clock p. m., on the premises in Saxton, he will offer at public sale a lot of ground in Saxton borough, fronting 50 feet on Spring street, and extending back to an alley, adjoining lots of Montgomery Sipes on the east and Jennie Swab on the west.

Terms:—Ten per cent. of bid must be paid or secured on day of sale, balance of one-half at delivery of deed, and one-half in one year thereafter, with interest.

EDWARD C. WHITEHILL, FRANK E. COLVIN, Executors. Attorney. Oct. 26-13.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE

[Estate of John A. Songster, late of Hopewell Borough, Bedford County, Pa., Deceased.]

Letters of administration on the above estate having been granted to the undersigned, all persons indebted to the said estate are requested to make prompt payment, and those having claims to present the same without delay to

J. Alexander Eichelberger, Saxton, Pa. Glen C. Eichelberger, Hopewell, Pa. Frank E. Colvin, Executors. Attorney. Oct. 26-13.

EXECUTORS' NOTICE

[Estate of Philip Mock, late of East St. Clair Township, Bedford County, Pa., Deceased.]

Letters testamentary on the above estate having been granted to the undersigned, all persons indebted to the said estate are requested to make prompt payment, and those having claims to present the same without delay to

JOSEPH MOCK or E. E. MOCK, Executors, &c., Or to H. D. TATE, Attorney. Cessna, Pa. Oct. 5-16.

ADMINISTRATRIX'S NOTICE

[Estate of Catharine Ann Hanks, late of Cumberland Valley Township, Bedford County, Pa., Deceased.]

Letters of administration c. t. a. on the above estate having been granted to the undersigned, all persons indebted to the said estate are requested to make prompt payment, and those having claims to present the same without delay to

RACHEL HANKS, Administratrix, c. t. a., R. F. D. No. 1, Cumberland Valley. B. F. MADORE, Attorney. Oct. 19-16.

"4 DAY CURE" FOR PILES
Cures and prevents future trouble. No surgery. No pain. No blood. No odor. No trouble. No cost. Send $1.00 for a package of Parker's Hair Balm. J. G. WOODMAN-71 PARK PLAZA

PARKER'S HAIR BALM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Prevents dandruff. Restores gray hair to its natural color. Cures scalp diseases and itching. Price, 25c and 50c at Druggists.

Pneumonia Follows a Cold but never follows the use of Foley's Honey and Tar. It stops the cough, heals and strengthens the lungs and prevents pneumonia. Ed. D. Heckerman.

SWITZERLAND

The Little Republic of the Alps an Experiment Station.

The great republic of the west has much to learn from her sister in the Alps. Switzerland is less than half as extensive as Ohio and lacks, by a million, as many people. But in the purity of her democracy there is no state of our Union which is to be compared with her, unless it be the state of Oregon.

This little republic has no standing army, but she exerts in the world a moral influence greater than the might of armies. Her influence counts especially for two things: one of these is peace. How has she managed to escape the slavery of militarism, when the nations that surround her are stupendous camps of fighting men? Because, after the battle of Waterloo, these nations agreed to make Switzerland neutral territory. Why not enlarge that neutral zone and let it include the whole of Europe?

The Lion of Lucerne sleeps on these Swiss hills; the velvet valleys are sacred with the shrines of Margaret and Sempach and Nafels; the legend of William Tell and the spirit of Arnold Winkelried abide in the Forest Cantons, and every mountain is a monument to the deathless courage of the men who fought for freedom on that great battlefield of Europe.

But these mountains that keep the memory of glorious wars, are also the sentinels of a more glorious peace. What was the battle ground of Europe has become the pleasure ground of all the world, and the Alps that stand guard there seem to be watching the surrounding armies, resolved that never again shall human blood defile their mountain torrents nor the curse of war profane their solitudes. How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of the Swiss republic that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace!

But there is one thing greater than peace, and that is liberty. In the quality of her liberty as well as in the example of her peace, the Swiss republic is evangel among the nations. Liberty is a state of balance between two principles; between federation and self-government. Federation without self-government is tyranny; local independence without federation is anarchy.

Our own republic taught the world the lesson of federation. The Swiss deliberately copied our federal constitution. But the old town meeting was the cradle of our liberties and that, in our scheme of government, has been lost. In the Swiss system, however, we find a great problem solved. They have saved the essential democracy of the town meeting without losing any of the blessings of federation. In his Rise of the Swiss Republic, Mr. McCracken says:

"It will always remain the chief honor and glory of Swiss statesmanship to have discovered the solution of one of the greatest political problems of the ages; how to enable great masses of people to govern themselves directly. By means of the Referendum and the Initiative, this difficulty has been brilliantly overcome. The essence and vital principle of the popular assembly has been rescued from perishing miserably before the exigencies of modern life, and successfully grafted upon the representative system."

Herbert S. Bigelow, Cincinnati, O.

HAVE YOU CATARRH?

Breathe Hyomei and Get Relief and Cure—Sold Under Guarantee

If you have Catarrh with its many unpleasant symptoms, you should begin to use the healing Hyomei at once.

Hyomei is made from nature's soothing oils and balsams, and contains the germ killing properties of the pine forests. Its medication is taken in with the air you breathe, so that it reaches the most remote cells of the respiratory organs, killing all catarrhal germs and soothing any irritation there may be in the mucous membrane.

A complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1, extra bottles, if needed, 50 cents, and F. W. Jordan gives his personal guarantee with every package that money will be refunded unless the treatment cures.

We have secured the agency for Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup, the new laxative that makes the liver lively, purifies the breath, cures headache and regulates the digestive organs. Cures chronic constipation. Ask us about it. Ed. D. Heckerman.

The New York World

THREE-A-WEEK EDITION.

Read Wherever the English Language is Spoken.

The Three-A-Week World, now that a great Presidential campaign is foreshadowed, hopes to be a better paper than it has ever been before, and it has made its arrangements accordingly. Its news service covers the entire globe, and it reports everything fully, promptly and accurately. It is the only newspaper, not a daily, which is as good as a daily, and which will keep you as completely informed of what is happening through out the world.

The Three-A-Week World is fair in its political reports. You can get the truth from its columns, whether you are a Republican or Democrat, and that is what you want.

A special feature of the Three-A-Week World has always been its serial fiction. It publishes novels by the best authors in the world, novels which in book form sell for $1.50 apiece, and its high standard in this respect will be maintained in the future as in the past.

THE THREE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and The Gazette together for one year for $2.20.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $2.50.

900 DROPS

CASTORIA

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of

INFANTS & CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. FLETCHER

Perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac-Simile Signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher

NEW YORK.

55 DROPS 55 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought Bears the Signature of

Dr. J. C. Fletcher

Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

M. LIPPEL'S PHILADELPHIA CLOTHING STORE BEDFORD, PA.

MEN'S SUITS $3.00 Regular Price $5.00. MEN'S ODD WORKING COATS $1.75 Regular Price $3.00 BOYS' FINE BLACK SUITS, LONG PANTS $4.50 Regular Price $8.00 BOYS' FINE MIXED CASIMERE SUITS, LONG PANTS $3.00 Regular Price $6.00 CHILDREN'S TWO-PIECE SUITS $1.00 Regular Price $2.50 BOYS' WINTER CAPS 20c Regular Price 50 cts MEN'S FINE BLACK HATS 90c Regular Price $1.50 BOYS' DOUBLE BREASTED SUITS $3.00 Regular Price $6.00 MEN'S WOOL TOP SHIRTS 90c Regular Price $1.50 MEN'S MACKINTOSH COATS $2.00 Regular Price $4.00	MEN'S FINE ALL WOOL SUITS $8.00 Regular Price $12.00 FINE SUIT CASES 90c BOYS' KNEE PANTS 20c Regular Price 50 cts MEN'S CORDUROY SUITS $4.50 Regular Price $7.00 BOYS' FINE UNDERSHIRTS 20c Regular Price 35 and 50c BOYS' DRAWERS 20c Regular Price 35 and 50c MEN'S SHIRTS 45c Regular Price 50 and 75c MEN'S DRAWERS 45c Regular Price 50 and 75c MEN'S OVERCOATS $4.50 Regular Price $8.00 MEN'S OVERCOATS $6.00 Regular Price $12.00 BOYS' OVERCOATS $3.00 Regular Price $5.00
--	--

A. C. WOLF, M. D., PHYSICIAN and SURGEON

ROOMS IN RIDENOUR BLOCK, BEDFORD, PA.
OFFICE HOURS: 9 to 12 a. m. 1 to 5 p. m. Daily Except Sunday.
Special attention given to the treatment of Chronic Cases between the hours of 1 and 5 p. m., daily except Sunday.

W. H. SEARS, M. D., Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat

AT BEDFORD, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1906.
Can be seen at Huntingdon on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

BEDFORD DIVISION AND HUNTINGDON & BROAD TOP R. R.

In effect September 22, 1906.

Trains leave Bedford for Mt. Dallas and intermediate stations and points on the Huntingdon and Broad Top Railroad, connecting for Altoona, Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, Washington, 9:15 a. m., 3:05 and 7:00 p. m. weekdays; 9:45 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. Sundays. For Cumberland and intermediate stations, 8:40 (Saturdays only), 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. weekdays. For Inter and intermediate stations, 6:00 a. m. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays only; and 4:00 p. m. Saturdays only. For rates, maps, time tables, and all other information, consult ticket agents.

W. W. ATTERBURY, General Manager. Pass'r Traffic Manager.

GEO. W. BOYD, General Passenger Agent.

HUNTINGDON & BROAD TOP MOUNTAIN RAILROAD.

In effect June 25, 1906.

NORTH.	STATIONS.	SOUTH.
p. m.	a. m. Lv.	Ar. a. m. p. m.
3:30	9:35	Mt. Dallas 10:10 7:15
3:33	9:38	Everett 10:07 7:12
3:41	9:46	Entriken 9:57 7:04
3:51	9:56	Cypher 9:43 7:55
3:53	10:04	Hopewell 9:34 8:47
4:03	10:08	Riddlesburg 9:29 8:43
4:15	10:20	Ar. Saxton 9:17 8:31

Note.	3:20	8:30	Lv. J. dley	Ar. 10:55	7:05
	3:25	8:45	Coalbourn	10:40	3:50
	3:50	9:00	Ar. Saxton	Lv. 10:25	7:35

4:15	10:20	Lv. Saxton	Ar. 9:17	8:31
4:25	10:30	Cove	9:06	8:20
4:30	10:35	Hummel	9:01	8:15
4:45	10:40	Entriken	8:56	8:10
4:47	10:47	Marklesburg	8:49	8:03
4:48	10:51	Brumblough	8:45	7:59
4:51	10:56	Grarton	8:40	7:54
4:56	11:00	McConnellistn	8:35	7:50
5:05	11:10	Huntingdon	8:25	7:40

Note.—Runs between Dudley and Saxton Mondays and Saturdays only.

Bedford Special.
Train No. 5 leaves Huntingdon at 2 p. m. and arrives at Bedford at 3:15 p. m. Train No. 6 leaves Bedford at 7 p. m. and arrives at Huntingdon at 8:45 p. m.

Sunday Trains.

Trains leave Huntingdon at 8:45 a. m. and 5:40 p. m. and arrive at Bedford at 10:30 a. m. and 7:25 p. m. Trains leave Bedford at 9:45 a. m. and 8:30 p. m. and arrive at Huntingdon at 11:30 a. m. and 5:15 p. m.

Humphrey D. Tate

Attorney-at-Law
BEDFORD, PA.
Office on Public Square.

D. Lloyd Claycomb

Attorney-at-Law
ALTOONA, PA.
All business entrusted to my care will receive prompt attention. n6-03

R. C. McNamara

Attorney-at-Law
BEDFORD, PA.
Office in Ridenour Block. oct28-98

Frank Fletcher

Attorney-at-Law
BEDFORD, PA.
Office on Public Square.

DR. CHARLES R. GRISSINGER

DENTIST
BEDFORD, PA.
Crown and Bridge Work and other Specialties. Vapor administered. Careful Attention.
Office on Juliana Street, above Jordan's Law Office. jun23-21

Hartley Banking Co.

BEDFORD, PA.
John M. Reynolds
Allen C. Blackburn
Fred A. Metzger
J. Frank Russell
Simon H. Sell

Wm. Hartley, Jr., Cashier.
Frank E. Colvin, Solicitor.

Unencumbered Individual Assets Over $500,000.

Three Per Cent. Interest Paid On Time Deposits.

Individual liability to all depositors and persons doing business with this firm.

This institution, in existence over 30 years, invites a continuance of the patronage of this business. Loans made on reasonable terms. Account and deposits solicited.

LUMBER,

Flooring, Siding, Bill Stuff, Lath, Shingles, and Pickets.

RUBBEROID ROOFING.

ROOFING SLATE

Bedford Planing Mill,
A. G. STEINER, BEDFORD, PA.

A sour stomach, a bad breath, a nasty complexion and other consequences of a disordered digestion are quickly removed by the use of Ring's Dyspepsia Tablets. Two days treatment free. Sold by J. Reed Irvine.

Barnett's Store

"We would rather make twenty sales at a profit of five cents each, than to make one sale at a profit of one dollar. It requires twenty times as much work to make that dollar, but it brings us in touch with twenty to one more people. As our experience has taught us that a pleased customer is the best advertisement, we are the gainer, because the more pleased people going out of this store, the greater the strength of the advertising force of the public opinion in favor of this store. We make it a specialty to give prompt attention to all your orders, whether you come in person, phone or send the children."

Ladies' and Children's Coats

When you see them I am sure you'll say they are the prettiest garments ever brought to Bedford. Hardly any two alike. Even the black coats are all trimmed differently. 50 to 34 inches long.

Beautiful Models in Children's Coats at $1.98 to $10. Handsome Coats for Ladies, at $5 to $10. Plenty of extra fine garments, and some elaborately braided, ranging in price from $12 to $20.

Don't put off buying your Winter Wraps—come early while you have a good variety to choose from.

An Elegant Hosiery Number

We Want You to Try This New Stocking

Get a pair for the boy; let him romp and climb around as much as he likes.

The Bicycle Boy is a new stocking with a corduroy rib that resists all wear.

Knitted from extra strong yarn, 2 thread leg, 3 thread heels and toes; that's a combination unmatched for service.

Every pair is guaranteed, not with a mere say-so, but with a guarantee pinned to the stocking. You take no chances on the quality, you run no risk of fading or impure dye, you don't have to experiment with any part of it.

We've compared it with every other brand on the market, and we do not hesitate to tell you that it is the biggest value at the price we've ever seen.

12½ to 20c according to size.

Cheap in price only. The quality is of the highest—prove it by an actual trial.

3645—Girls' Long Coat.
Sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, 14 years.

Quite the Largest assortments of Winter Goods ever displayed here so early in the season are ready now, and daily additions serve to make them all the more interesting.

Most notable are the increased stocks of very high class Merchandise—both imported and domestic. These are extraordinarily broad—and interesting. Gros Grain Voile, Prunella Cloths, French Mixtures and Henriettas in black and a complete range of the newest shades. With the display, we offer these special lots: 50 and 52 inch Suitings, at 85c a yard; regular $1.25 quality. Pure wool fabrics adapted for tailored-made Costumes and separate Skirts; neat stripe and check effects woven of fancy yarns in most desirable colorings.

Black and colored Broadcloths—52 inches wide—regular $1.25 quality at 98c yard.

DRAPERIES Portieres, Curtains, Couch Covers and Table Covers

Whether you live in a cottage, flat or mansion, in farm region, village or city, as a home-loving woman, our high grade Tapestries are sure to appeal to you.

Don't wait until you are in a hurry and choose haphazard. Give yourself time to use plenty of discrimination. See our Tapestries the next time you go shopping. Their artistic beauty and wearing qualities are out of all proportion to their modest prices.

Horse Blankets, Carriage Robes, Storm Aprons, Etc.

We have an elegant line of square Wool Blankets, fancy and plain colors, at $1.25 to $8. Stable Blankets at 98c to $2. Plush Robes—an elegant line of plain and floral effects ranging in price from $2.75 to $10. Special—A double Plush Robe, floral effect, at $3.75, worth $5.

Do you think of buying a sewing machine? If you do, let us show you the "Eldredge." This machine is considered by all who have used them, the most satisfactory machines they ever saw.

The very moderate prices at which these high grade machines are sold make them doubly attractive. $14.98, $16, $18, $23 and $25.

Travelers' Goods

TRUNKS, SUIT CASES,
BAGS AND TELESCOPES.

We keep on hand at all times an elegant stock of these goods and can suit you in quality, style and price. Extra value in trunks and suit cases at $5.00.

FOOTWEAR

We want to sell you your Winter Shoes, Rubber and Felt Boots. We have the goods here—we know the prices are right and we know we can please you.

We are exclusive agents for the following lines of footwear. We are sure no better goods are made:

HEYWOOD SHOES FOR MEN,

$3.50, $3.75, $4.00.

REED'S SHOES FOR WOMEN,

$2.00, $3.00, $3.50.

BUDD'S SHOES FOR CHILDREN,

50c to $2.00.

BANIGAN RUBBERS FOR EVERYONE.

Cook Stoves,
$12.75 to $38.

Ranges,
$21 to $65.

Heating Stoves,
$2.50 to $35.

Stove Pipe, 15c.

Elbows, 15c.

Call or write for prices.

Goods Delivered.

Metzger Hardware and House Furnishing Co.
Bedford, Pa.

Dunning's Creek Reformed Charge
Pleasant Hill: Sunday school 9 a. m.; Home Mission Day service 10 a. m.; St. Paul's: Sunday school 1 p. m.; Home Mission Day services 2 p. m.; St. Luke's: Sunday school 9 a. m.; Home Mission Day service 7 p. m.; Rev. A. F. Nace of Juniata will deliver addresses at each place.
B. F. Bausman, Pastor.

Distinctive styles, Great Variety, Moderate Price—these are the distinguishing features of the "Queen Quality" Shoes which have caused them to be favored beyond all other women's shoes in the world for the price, and which by the same token bring women in throngs to select their shoes here.

The season's new styles are now ready.

For Street and General wear Glazed Kid and Gun Metal Leather will be the vogue with discriminating dressers.

Prices, $3.00 and $3.50.

Ralston Health and Regent Shoes
For Men.

BOTH PHONES

Geo. T. Jacobs & Bro.

St. Clairsville Reformed Charge
Imbler: Sunday school 9 a. m.; Home Missionary services 10 a. m.; catechetical lecture 11 a. m.; St. Clairsville: Sunday school 1 p. m.; preaching 2:15 p. m.; catechetical lecture 3:15 p. m.
J. Wm. Zehring, Pastor

For Rent—A store room in good location for a general store. Write W. B. Bancroft, Altoona, Pa. O26-3t

Deeds Recorded

Elmira Zembower to John I. Harding, tract in Bedford county, $1,000.

Maza Diehl to Leonard W. Rice, tract in Cumberland Valley; $2,000. Samuel M. Fink to Isaac W. Ritchey, tract in Hopewell township; $155.

Henry C. Appleman to John Hitchens, lot in Broad Top; $1,250.

Henry P. Shaw to William H. Smith, tract in Monroe township, $3,400.

Grant S. Wagner to David S. Koontz, tract in Woodbury township; $1,700.

Henry W. Walter to Mary A. Baker, tract in South Woodbury; $3,000. Susanna Fink, by adms., to John H. Border, tract in Hopewell township, $2,250.

Jesse J. Lowery to Charles Lowery, two lots in Londonderry; $120. Joseph Patt to John K. Parks, lot in Saxton; $701.

William Worthington to Thos. Worthington, lot in Broad Top; $500. Willard L. Clapper to Andrew Grimes, lot in West Providence; $1,300.

John C. Nicholson to Rose B. Fleegle, lot in Broad Top; $850

Approaching Wedding

The following was taken from the Pittsburgh Dispatch of a few days ago.

"The wedding of Miss Cora Helena Tennant of North avenue, Wilkinsburg, and Oliver Clarke Hartley of Altoona will take place at the home of the bride at 7 o'clock Thursday evening, November 15. The ceremony will be performed in the presence of relatives by Rev. James McEwen, assisted by Rev. Theodore N. Eaton; the bride's brother, A. W. Tennant, giving her away. Miss Tennant will be attended by two nieces—Mrs. Arthur Jones of Niagara Falls as matron of honor and Miss Effie Mason as maid of honor. J. G. Sanson will serve as Mr. Hartley's best man. About 250 guests will be in attendance at the reception following the ceremony. Upon their return from a wedding trip the young couple will be at home in Altoona after January 1."

Mr. Hartley is a son of Mr. Edwin Hartley of near Bedford and has many friends here who join with The Gazette in wishing him and his bride a pleasant journey through life.

DAVIDSON BROS., Coal Dealers, have added Flour, Feed and Bran to their line of goods.

Gold Medal Spring Wheat Flour produces cakes and pastry of exquisite lightness. It goes further, too, than common kinds. Try a sack today—60c a sack; $4.75 barrel.

Orders left with H. C. Davidson or W. A. Deibaugh will receive prompt attention.

LET ME GIVE YOU MY PRICES ON YOUR WATCH

Don't buy until you see our line of Watches. It's the largest we have ever had in stock—and the finest.

A comparison is all we ask.

J. W. RIDENOUR,
Jeweler and Optician,
BEDFORD, PA.

Wanted—Good Man in each county to represent and advertise co-operative department, put out samples, etc. Old established business house. Cash Salary $21.00 weekly, expense money advanced; permanent position. Our Reference Bankers National Bank of Chicago, Capital $2,000,000. Address Manager, THE COLUMBIA HOUSE, Chicago, Ill., Desk No. 1. Nov. 9-4t.

Wanted

Apples—by Corle H. Smith, Openheimer Building, Bedford.

Chaneyville, Pa.,
October 30, 1906.

J. Roy Cessna,
Real Estate and Insurance,
Bedford, Pa.

Dear Sir:—

Draft in payment of loss by fire of my property has been received. Accept my thanks for your promptness in the matter.

Yours truly,

(Signed) GEO. W. ROBINETT.

FOR SALE

150-Egg Incubator, Prairie State, good as new, for half price. Guaranteed perfect.

100-Chick Brooder at bargain. Square piano at low price for cash.

House in Bedford, large, roomy, modern, heated and plumbing throughout. Extensive grounds, fertile garden, abundant fruit, cheap. Small amount cash required; balance easy payments.

Call on or address,
JNO. M. BAIN, Agt.

Agency
Demorest Sewing Machines,
Mutual Life Insurance Co.,
Home Accident & Health Ins. Co.

Hunters' Board—Can accommodate a number of hunters at residence near Martin Hill. Address W. C. Shoemaker, Rainsburg. Nov. 2-12

If you have apples to sell write, phone or call,
CORLE H. SMITH,
Bedford, Pa.

For Sale—New Edison Mimeograph. Apply at this office.

SALE REGISTER

All persons having sale bills printed at this office get a free notice in the sale register. This is worth several times the price of the bills.

On Saturday, November 17, at her residence on Juliana street, Mrs. Mary P. Bowser will offer at public sale, Static machine, X-Ray, wall plate, Yale operating-chair, surgical instruments, medical library and drugs. Also parlor suit, Russian leather couch, roll-top desk, chairs, range, Franklin stove, robes, linoleum, child's sleigh and go-cart, new quilts, fencing, kitchen utensils and many other articles.

George Ellenberger will offer at public sale on the premises in Napier township, one mile from Helixville, on Saturday, November 17, at one o'clock p. m., 211 acres adjoining lands of Henry Ellenberger, John Crissman, Benjamin Egolf and others, having thereon a large frame barn, 40x80 feet, a two-story log house and out buildings; also an 11-acre lot adjoining the above, on which is a frame house, good stable and summer house.

Marriage Licenses

Elmer E. Swaney and Viola Ott, of Woodbury.

Olymer Fletcher of Chapmans Run and Bertha Bowman of Arimas.

John E. McCrory of South Sharon and Laura M. Pensyl of Spring Hope.

Charles R. Chamberlain of Six Mile Run and Mary A. Leighton of Saltito.

George Calvin Miller of Hopewell township, Huntingdon county, and Jennie M. Settle of Henrietta.

Andrew Clark of Everett and Jennie Barton of Breezewood.

Wolfsburg Circuit

Services on November 11 as follows: Wolfsburg, Sunday school 9 a. m.; preaching 10 a. m. Trans Run, 2:30 p. m. Protracted meeting at Rainsburg at 7 p. m.
E. C. Keboch, Pastor.

Lutheran Church Services

On Sunday, November 11, at Bald Hill 10 a. m. Holy Communion; Saturday, 10 a. m., preparatory service; Sunday 2:30 p. m., services at St. Mark's.
J. W. Lingle, Pastor.